Marriage and Family Therapy Programs (MS and Ph.D.)
Brigham Young University

Welcome to the Marriage and Family Therapy Program

Welcome to one of the premier Marriage and Family Therapy (MFT) graduate programs in the United States! You have been selected by the faculty with great care and with the expectation that you will progress through the program to completion. We welcome you as students, friends, and colleagues to join us in the development of our profession!

The MFT Program at BYU began in 1967 and is among one of the first universities in the United States to train marriage and family therapists. Utah passed legislation to license MFTs in 1971, making it among one of the first states to do so. Currently, we are one of the few universities offering both the masters and doctoral degrees in MFT. BYU MFT graduates are in clinical and academic positions throughout the United States, Canada, and the world.

While here, you will gain the knowledge and skills necessary to enter your field of study and future profession with confidence. This Graduate Program Handbook has been developed to assist you as you begin and progress through your studies. Specifically, this Handbook has the following goals:

- To describe MFT Graduate Program policies and procedures
- To provide you with a clear understanding of the educational outcomes associated with your program
- To help you understand the expectations and procedures related to the academic curriculum
- To help you understand the resources available to you at BYU including faculty, staff, library, computer resources, financial aid, etc.

We wish you the best and look forward to your participation in and contribution to the Marriage and Family Therapy Program at Brigham Young University.

Chapter 1: Introduction

The mission of Brigham Young University—founded, supported, and guided by The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints—is to assist individuals in their quest for perfection and eternal life. That assistance should provide a period of intensive learning in a stimulating setting where a commitment to excellence is expected and the full realization of human potential is pursued.

Master’s Program The Marriage and Family Therapy MS Program at Brigham Young University was first accredited in 1967 by the Commission on Accreditation for Marriage and Family Therapy Education (COAMFTE, which is AAMFT’s accrediting body). The MFT Program has been continuously accredited since that time, most recently in 2016. The mission of the BYU MFT Master’s Program is to educate marriage and family therapists to advance a relational perspective on the practice and science of improving the health and well-being of individuals, couples, families, and society. In the program, students will be instructed and challenged to develop competency in the areas of theory, clinical practice, and research. To aid development of these competencies, the program is committed to providing opportunities in clinical, academic, and research arenas. This is done in an environment that is committed to respect and support of multiculturalism and diversity.

Ph.D. Program. The Marriage and Family Therapy Ph.D. Program at Brigham Young University was first accredited in 1967 by the Commission on Accreditation for Marriage and Family Therapy Education (COAMFTE, which is AAMFT’s accrediting body). The MFT Program has been continuously accredited since that time, most recently in 2016. The mission of the BYU MFT Ph.D. Program is to educate marriage and family therapy scholars to advance a relational perspective on the science and practice of improving the health and well-being of individuals, couples, families, and society. In the program, students will be instructed and challenged to develop competency in the areas of theory development, teaching/supervision, and research. To aid development of these competencies, the program is committed to providing opportunities in clinical, academic, and research arenas. This is done in an environment that is committed to respect and support of multiculturalism and diversity. BYU offers three options for the Ph.D. degree in MFT, as follows:

- Students with a baccalaureate degree must first complete the MS program curriculum (thesis included), which takes two years. After completing the MS degree, they may apply to the Ph.D. program. Upon admission to the doctoral program, the student completes the Ph.D. program requirements, which take an additional four years. Admission to BYU’s Ph.D. program is not guaranteed simply upon completion of the MS program.
- Students who have a clinical but non-MFT masters degree program (e.g., MSW) should apply to the Ph.D. program. However, the master’s curriculum is followed until MFT MS degree courses not present in a student’s previous clinical program have been completed. When all requirements for licensure in MFT are completed, the student then begins the Ph.D. curriculum.
- Students who already have an MFT master degree from an accredited MFT program may apply for the Ph.D. program. They could complete the program in approximately four years.

This chapter will introduce the people involved in making the Program work and an overview of the mission and details of the MFT Program.

Advisory Chair

When students are admitted to the program, they are assigned an advisory chair for their graduate committee. This MFT faculty member is the student's major advisor and thesis/dissertation/clinical project mentor. It is most helpful to students if meetings between a student and his/her advisory chair occur regularly, even weekly. Meeting regularly facilitates consistent review of the student's progress in the program. Scheduling these meetings is usually initiated by the student. We recommend the student contacts their advisor within the first week of Fall Semester to set up a meeting schedule. The advisory chair will advise the student about course work and consult with the student in designing and carrying out his/her thesis, dissertation, or clinical project including length of paper. Topics worthy of regular review with an advisory chair include:

- Class schedules and academic progress
- Progress towards completion of clinical and supervision hours
- Progress towards completion of thesis, dissertation, or clinical project and doctoral portfolio
- Progress on timeline towards completion of degree
- Additional topics of pertinence to the student or advisory chair

Students should keep their advisory chair informed about their professional goals and unique needs that are or are not being met in the program, and professional activities. Students have the primary responsibility for developing their Program of Study and for designing the thesis, dissertation, or clinical project. A student's advisory chair (along with other faculty) is a significant resource in finding opportunities for professional involvement. Professional involvement includes: presenting papers at professional meetings, acquiring student officer positions in professional associations, and having a variety of teaching, research, and intervention experiences.

The advisory chair can assist students in finding their first professional position upon graduation. This involves writing letters of recommendation, being alert for the type of positions for which the student would be suited, and making personal contacts where appropriate.

Directors and Staff

Program Director (Jason Whiting, Ph.D.) The program director provides curriculum oversight, ensures adherence to COAMFTE guidelines, coordinates scholarships and research/teaching assistantship (RA/TA) contracts, and manages the day-to-day operations of the MFT program (e.g., faculty and student concerns).

Director of Clinical Training (Lauren A. Barnes, Ph.D.) Also known as the clinical director, works to recruit new students, oversees admission to the program and assists current students in their clinical training by assigning, networking and increasing potential clinical opportunities. The Director of Clinical Training is the liaison to the BYU Comprehensive Clinic and directs the case management system by screening and assigning appropriate clients to the students in the program.

The MFT Office The MFT office staffed by part-time secretaries is located in room 234 TLRB. Part-time secretaries are available to answer questions students might have or direct them to the appropriate person. They are the department secretaries and not your personal secretaries. While they can answer questions for you, they are not to run errands or copies for you. They cannot print off anything but forms and items on approved letterhead. Students need to inform the secretaries about changes to their mailing address, email address or telephone number.

Graduate Program Manager (Terri Robertson) The School of Family Life (SFL) Graduate Program Manager is Terri Robertson, and her main office is 2086F JFSB. She is responsible for tracking student records (including the Program of Study and Ph.D. portfolio requirements), scheduling thesis/dissertation defenses, approving travel expenses, and approving final electronic thesis and dissertation (ETD) documents. She is the contact person for hiring and corrections to Y-time for all graduate student positions. She will have regular office hours in both the Taylor (TLRB) and JFSB. Email is the best way to contact her terri_robertson@byu.edu.

Accreditation Manager (Duncan Cole) The accreditation manager is responsible for collecting data for and ensuring adherence to COAMFTE guidelines, updating this handbook, and organizing special events. Email is the best way to contact her (duncan_cole@byu.edu).

Student Association

① Who are the student representatives and what do they do?

Each year, the MS students elect students to be a part of the MFT Student Association. The Ph.D. students also elect a President. A few of these students are invited to attend weekly faculty meetings where the first agenda item is generally student feedback. In order to solicit your feedback, your student representatives will hold regular meetings (usually bi-monthly) in order to exchange information, provide feedback, or problem-solve student-related issues. The program expects you to attend these meetings because, as part of your socialization into a professional role, we expect you to learn how to be influential and make your voices heard in this and other systems. These meetings are a chance for you to express concerns as well as highlight strengths during your experience in the program, the clinic, supervision, and other areas. Your representatives then bring the main points regarding these concerns to faculty meeting without divulging anyone's identity. From time-to-time, the faculty ask the student representatives to seek your input on issues the faculty may be considering. The presidents of the MFT Student Associations are available to hear your feedback at times other than the scheduled meetings through email or personal contact. Student Presidents for 2019-2020 are:

Ph.D. Student Association President:

Alexis Werner

alexis_werner@URMC.Rochester.edu

MS Student Association President:

MFT Program Missions and Educational Outcomes

The mission of Brigham Young University—founded, supported, and guided by The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints—is to assist individuals in their quest for perfection and eternal life. That assistance should provide a period of intensive learning in a stimulating setting where a commitment to excellence is expected and the full realization of human potential is pursued.

Master's Program Mission and Details

The MFT Master's Degree Program at BYU was first accredited by the Commission on Accreditation for Marriage and Family Therapy Education (COAMFTE, which is AAMFT's accrediting body) in 1967 and has been continuously accredited since that time (re-accredited most recently in 2016).

The mission of the BYU MFT MS Program is to educate marriage and family therapists to advance a relational perspective on the practice and science of improving the health and well-being of individuals, couples, families, and society. In the program, students will be instructed and challenged to develop competency in the areas of theory, clinical practice, and research. To aid development of these competencies, the program is committed to providing opportunities in clinical, academic, and research arenas. This is done in an environment that is committed to respect, and support of multiculturalism and diversity.

The MS program trains persons who will be outstanding clinicians, prepared to function in a wide variety of marriage and family therapy settings (e.g. mental health centers, private treatment programs, hospitals, private practice, etc.). The curriculum is based on the licensure requirements of Utah (and most states) and is accredited by the Commission on Accreditation for Marriage and Family Therapy Education. The master's degree is the basic credential for independent practice in marriage and family therapy.

Master's Program Educational Outcomes:

Educational outcomes for the BYU MS program include a set of student learning outcomes, a set of faculty outcomes, and a set of program outcomes. These outcomes are interdependent and designed to complement each other.

Students are expected to demonstrate the following student learning outcomes:

- Be competent in knowledge of MFT and systemic theories including MFT ethics
- Be competent in terms of applied clinical skills.
- Be competent in MFT research skills.
- Understand and respect cultural diversity.

Faculty outcomes (what the faculty is expected to demonstrate) include:

- Be clinically active and meet credentialing standards for their developmental level.
- Be engaged in research scholarship.
- Demonstrate effective teaching abilities.
- Provide service in university-based and professional responsibilities.
- Understand and respect cultural diversity.

Program outcomes include:

- Program will graduate students who are prepared to engage in MFT practice in the areas of theoretical competence, clinical competence, and research competence.
- Maintain a curriculum that is infused with readings and training related to multicultural diversity.
- Prepare students to meet academic and clinical practice requirements for MFT-A licensure in Utah and/or pursue additional graduate studies (e.g. Ph.D. program enrollment).

Master's Program Learning Outcomes: Given the complexities associated with the two degree programs (MS and Ph.D.) and their respective educational outcomes at the program, student and faculty levels, it is important that these outcomes be reviewed regularly. Student learning outcomes, program outcomes, and faculty outcomes are reviewed formally on a yearly basis. These reviews are used to: consider the professional marriage and family therapy principles on which the outcomes are based (e.g., AAMFT Code of Ethics, State of Utah MFT Licensing Laws and Regulations) and review feedback/data related to the Educational Outcomes from the programs' communities of interest (e.g., faculty, students, graduates, employers).

A more in-depth review of the program objectives is provided in the following tables.

Ph.D. Program Mission and Details

The Marriage and Family Therapy Ph.D. Program at Brigham Young University was first accredited by the Commission on Accreditation for Marriage and Family Therapy Education (COAMFTE, which is AAMFT's accrediting body) in 1967 and has been continuously accredited since that time (re-accredited most recently in 2016).

The mission of the BYU MFT Doctoral Program is to educate marriage and family therapy scholars to advance a relational perspective on the science and practice of improving the health and well-being of individuals, couples, families, and society. In the program, students will be instructed and challenged to develop competency in the areas of theory development, teaching/supervision, and research. To aid development of these competencies, the program is committed to providing opportunities in clinical, academic, and research arenas. This is done in an environment that is committed to respect, and support of multiculturalism and diversity.

Ph.D. Program Options: There are three ways to join the doctoral program at BYU.

- Students with a baccalaureate degree must first complete the MS program curriculum (thesis included), which takes two years. After completing the MS degree, they may apply to the Ph.D. program. Completion of the master's degree (at BYU or elsewhere) is not a guarantee of acceptance to the BYU Ph.D. program. Upon admission to the doctoral program, the student completes the Ph.D. program requirements, which take an additional four years.
- Students who have a clinical but non-MFT master degree (e.g., MSW) should apply to the Ph.D. program. A course of study to prepare the student for licensure will be conducted on an individual needs basis with each student, their advisor, and the program director.
- Students who already have an MFT master's degree from an accredited MFT program may apply for the Ph.D. program. They could complete the program in approximately four years.

Ph.D. Educational Outcomes: Educational outcomes for the BYU Ph.D. program include a set of student learning outcomes, a set of faculty outcomes, and a set of program outcomes. These outcomes are interdependent and designed to complement each other.

Students are expected to demonstrate the following student learning outcomes:

- Be productive in the area of MFT research methods and statistics
- Be competence in teaching and MFT supervision
- Be competent in MFT Theory and practice including MFT ethics
- Understand and respect cultural diversity

Faculty outcomes include:

- Be clinically active and meet credentialing standards for their developmental level
- Be engaged in research scholarship
- Demonstrate effective teaching abilities
- Provide service in university-based and professional responsibilities
- Understand and respect cultural diversity

Program outcomes include:

- Program will graduate students who are prepared to competently engage in the MFT profession
- Maintain a curriculum that is infused with readings and training related to multicultural diversity
- Prepare students to secure employment in an area specific to MFT

Ph.D. Program Learning Outcomes: Given the complexities associated with the two degree programs (MS and Ph.D.) and their respective educational outcomes at the program, student, and faculty levels, it is important that these outcomes be reviewed regularly. Student Learning Outcomes, Program Outcomes, and Faculty Outcomes are reviewed formally on a yearly basis. These reviews are used to consider the professional marriage and family therapy principles on which the outcomes are based (e.g., AAMFT Code of Ethics, State of Utah MFT Licensing Laws and Regulations); and review feedback/data related to the Educational Outcomes from the programs' communities of interest (e.g., faculty, students, graduates, employers).

A more in-depth review of the program objectives is provided in the following tables.

Chapter 2: Getting Started

Welcome to BYU and to the MFT program! We would like to help make the transition as easy as possible. The first section includes answers to commonly asked questions about getting started at BYU and in the MFT Program. This is followed by information about paying for graduate school. Which is followed by the expectations of BYU and the MFT program. The final section explains the governance of the MFT program and each groups' role in it.

Getting started at a new school or in a new program can be challenging. Here are some answers to commonly asked questions about getting started at BYU and in the MFT program.

Getting Started at BYU

① How do I get started?

How do I know what I need to do to get started? You should have received a welcome letter providing information about which classes to register for, getting a background check, explaining the expectations for professional conduct, providing the summer reading list, pointing you towards the practice exam, suggesting you read this handbook, informing you of upcoming orientation, explaining financial aid, and introducing the people you should be familiar with. If you did not receive this email, please contact the MFT secretaries right away so they can get a copy to you.

Additionally, this website helps first-year BYU students get started. gradstudies.byu.edu/page/admitted-students. You can use this website as a checklist to find the things you need to do and to find the location of things you need. Some of the most common questions will be answered below.

When and where do I get my BYU ID card?

You will need a BYU ID card to access most services on campus. You can get your ID card as early as one day after registering for classes. You can get this in person at the BYU ID Center, 1057 Wilkinson

Student Center. You will need to bring another form of photo ID such as a driver's license or passport. For your BYU ID card, they will take a photo and you must meet BYU dress and grooming standards as described here: idcenter.byu.edu/id-card-policies#dress+grooming. Your spouse and certain dependents can also get an ID card. Qualifying dependents are unmarried children who rely on you for support and are under the age of 30. Check online at idcenter.byu.edu for additional information and ID Center hours.

What services are available with a BYU ID card? Spouses and dependents can use their ID card to pay for items on campus using "Cougar Cash" (with discounts, but without tax-exemption), check out library materials, use the athletic facilities (fees may apply), and ride UTA for free on all Salt Lake and Utah County public transportation vehicles. Students have additional benefits using their ID card. Students will use Cougar Cash (with a tax exemption) for printing/copying and purchasing incidentals on campus, gaining access to certain restricted areas, accessing testing center, and as their main source of identification while on campus. You should always carry your card with you.

Where is the MFT program located? The Marriage and Family Therapy Graduate Program is located in the John Taylor Building just east of the main portion of campus and on east side of 900 East.

Where can I park? All parking near the Taylor Building is by permit only. There are spots for faculty, students, and graduate students. None of these parking spots are free. There are a limited number of visitor parking spots that are free to the public but students may not park in these spots at any time. There is free parking on BYU campus, but not near the Taylor Building. Before coming to campus, you must register your car whether you choose to pay for parking or not. (See the next question for information on registering your car.)

Students who have paid for parking may park in the red “G” parking or Yellow “Y” parking spots near the Taylor Building or across the street by the Law Building. To see a full map of campus parking navigate to map.byu.edu/ and click on the “Parking” tab at the top of the map.

How do I register my car? You can register your car online by logging in to my.byu.edu (Campus Links->Miscellaneous->Parking Registration). You will need the make, model, and license plate number for your car. Paid parking permits cost $60 each Fall and Winter Semesters. Spring and Summer Terms are free.

How do I sign up for health insurance or waive the health insurance requirement? You can sign up for health insurance by logging in to my.byu.edu (Campus Links->School->Student/Private Health Plans). If you have private insurance you can waive the health insurance requirement on this page.

How do I access health services? The Student Health Center is located at 1750 North Wymount Terrace Drive (just a few blocks north of the Taylor Building along 900 East). The clinic can meet most of your general medical and pharmaceutical needs. An urgent care is also located on site. You can schedule an appointment and find out more clinic information online at health.byu.edu. Urgent care can be obtained simply by walking in. Emergency care is available by calling 801-422-2222 on campus or 911 on- or off campus.

How do I access the library online? The library can be accessed at lib.byu.edu. If you are off campus, you will need to sign in with your user name and your password in order to access library resources. The librarian assigned to MFT is Quinn Galbraith (801-422-4482 or quinn_galbraith@byu.edu). You can make an appointment with him from this page: guides.lib.byu.edu/family_sciences, which is also the main landing page for all things related to Family Sciences.

What resources are available to help me learn a new software program? The HBLL library has several software training courses available to students. Stop by in person or online to learn more.

Will my credits transfer? Always check the Graduate Catalog for the most recent policies. Currently, completed courses and credit taken at other accredited universities in the United States and Canada may, with program approval, count toward a graduate degree at BYU if the conditions below are met. Credit from foreign universities can be considered for transfer only if certified by special examination.

- Any course to be transferred must be clearly graduate level
- The grade for any such course must be B or better (pass/fail courses are not transferable)
- All home study, correspondence, and extension courses are not transferable
- Transfer credit in combination with non-degree and senior credit cannot total more than 10 hours
- Credit cannot have applied to another degree

Be aware that doctoral students who do not have a MS degree in Marriage and Family Therapy will not be able to obtain their LMFT license in the state of Utah until they have obtained an MFT degree and completed the required coursework. Therefore, a person with an MSW or other mental health degree will likely need to complete the Ph.D. before obtaining an LAMFT license and then work for two years before obtaining the full licensure as an LFMT. For clarification on the guidelines required to obtain an LMFT in Utah, please see R156-60b-302a: Qualifications for Licensure— Education Requirements.

What services are available for multicultural students? The Multicultural Student Services Center is located in 1320 of the Wilkinson Student Center, online at <https://multicultural.byu.edu>, by email at mss@byu.edu, or by phone at 801-422-3065. They provide services to help with financial aid, advisement, connection, and outreach programs.

Where can I go to get access or services in regards to my disability? The University Accessibility Center is located in the Wilkinson Student Center in room 2170, online at <https://uac.byu.edu>, by email at uacfrontdesk@byu.edu, or by phone at 801-422-2767. Many services are provided by the center for students with concerns ranging from ADHD, learning disabilities, emotional disabilities (depression, anxiety, etc), and physical disabilities (chronic illness, mobility, vision, hearing, etc). Some of these services include: academic accommodations, evaluations, alternative textbook formatting, assistive technology, distraction reducing exam rooms, scholarships, and outreach programs. They are open Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. (closed for devotionals).

Where do I find more information and the BYU Graduate Studies Catalog? The BYU Graduate Studies Catalog is published yearly and describes the university policies and procedures for graduate study. The Graduate Studies Catalog is the first and most important source of information about policies and procedures for earning your degree and is available online at gradstudies.byu.edu/. You will use this website extensively throughout the program and you may want to become familiar with it. The majority of the forms which you will need during your tenure in the program are available on the Graduate Studies website (Current Students-> Advisement Forms).

Getting Started in MFT Classes

How will the MFT program communicate with me? Students are expected to regularly check their email and mailbox (in the MFT office, 234 TLRB) for messages, mail, and other information. This is important to facilitate communication between advisors, faculty and students.

Is there an orientation meeting? A one hour student orientation is held the first week of your first semester in the program. The primary purpose of the meeting is to provide information concerning the MFT program and relevant policies and procedures.

How do I register for classes? The university registrar's office is a source of information regarding registration, class timetable, tuition and fees, honor code, exam schedule, etc. You can access them here: registrar.byu.edu. To register for your classes, log into my.byu.edu and following Campus Links->School->Register for Classes.

What classes should I register for? MS students should refer to the welcome letter they received from Dr. Barnes and/or Chapter 4 of this handbook to find out which classes to register for each semester. Ph.D. students should refer to Chapter 5. Always check with your advisor about which courses to take. For practicum assignments, contact Dr. Lauren Barnes.

How do I buy books? As long as your professor has put all of your books on the book list, you can access those before the semester has started at booklist.byu.edu. If you purchase your books using your student account, then your account will be charged and you have a grace period of 30-45 days before you have to pay.

How do I get access to the clinic's client management system (Penelope)? To start observing sessions, you should talk to the Clinic Director, Dean Barley to get set up with an account. Go to byu.app.box.com/file/379339664147 for training videos.

How do I make copies or send a fax? You will receive a code that will charge your account when making faxes or copies. You can receive this code when you create your CMS account. If the clinic secretaries (room 241) do not have the codes ready at the time of your visit, they will send you an email with the information once it becomes available. The copy and fax machine is located in room 243. Your copy and fax bill is due no later than the end of each school year.

How do I print? When you need to print something off, you can use the machine in room 169. You may print off whatever you need using this machine. It will bill your account. Therefore, you will need your student ID card in order to print and you will need to put money on your card beforehand. You can do this while logged in to my.byu.edu under "Cougar Cash" This will allow you to print from any computer on campus, as long as you are logged in under your net-ID. You can load more funds to your Cougar Cash account from your computer or the BYU app if you have it on your phone. Please note that adding funds can take up to 15 minutes. Do not ask the secretaries to print off anything except forms or items on official letterhead.

How do I access locked rooms? For locked rooms, you need to get a professor to request access on your behalf. They should inform you when access has been granted. If they have not, you can check with that professor or the clinic secretaries in room 241. Once you have been granted access, you will simply hold your ID card to the card reader. The first time you try to access a room, the card reader will turn red and deny you access. Just wait for a few minutes and try again. You will then gain access to that room and you will not need to wait when accessing that room in the future.

① Where can I go for personal counseling?

How do I find a BYU Counseling & Psychological Services therapist? It is crucial that you start this step as early as possible since there is high demand for CAPs services. To start the process go to capsintake.byu.edu/ and fill out the intake paperwork, which takes 15-20 minutes. At the end of the intake process, you will be prompted to call and make an appointment.

When you call, specify that you are a student in training, which means a CAPS student in training would not be a good fit for you. There are over 50 clinicians, half of which are faculty or full-time staff.

If you have a strong preference for a clinician of a particular demographic or who has a certain area of interest, you may view all the clinician profiles on their website at caps.byu.edu/ (select the "Faculty and Staff" link). Your preferences will be honored when you schedule an appointment. Please note that the front desk does not make clinician recommendations.

The CAPs program can triage clients in serious need such as those at risk for suicide during clinic hours Monday through Friday 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. After hours, please contact BYU Police who can get a hold of the clinician on call.

As a student, you also have access to the CAPs biofeedback and stress management lab. You can schedule an appointment or walk-in during business hours.

What if I want to go to someone off-campus for counseling? If you wish to go to a counselor who is not associated with BYU, then you can talk to the MFT Director of Clinical Training about referrals that he/she might have for someone in the community.

When will I participate in a commencement ceremony? A master's student starting coursework in September 2019 can expect to complete all coursework by August 2021. BYU has a single annual commencement ceremony that takes place in April 2021. Therefore, your commencement ceremony will occur prior to completing your coursework. However, if you are not on track to complete your coursework at the expected time, you will not participate in that commencement ceremony.

Ph.D. students and those master's students completing their coursework after their expected graduation date, will participate in the commencement ceremony associated with the academic year in which their coursework is completed. For example, those completing course work in December 2021, April 2022, June 2022, and August 2022 will participate in the April 2022 commencement ceremony.

Where do I find more information online about the MFT Program? The MFT Program website (mft.byu.edu) provides current information about a variety of program topics and provides links to other important sites. There is also a calendar on the home page that may be useful.

Academic Resources

① Where can I find library and writing resources on campus?

Library Resources. There is one centralized library on BYU campus, the Herald B. Lee Library (HBLL). It is centrally located on the main campus and the entrance is easily identified as a glass pyramid. Many of the resources you will be interested in are located two stories down and to the right in the Social Sciences section.

The library is also accessible online: lib.byu.edu. If you are off campus, you will need to sign in with your user name and your password in order to access library resources. The librarian assigned to MFT is Quinn Galbraith (801-422-4482 or quinn_galbraith@byu.edu). You can make an appointment with him from this page:

guides.lib.byu.edu/family_sciences, which is also the main landing page for all things related to Family Sciences.

Ideally, during your Fall MFT 600 course, the librarian will provide additional training on library resources. If this did not happen in your course, be sure to contact the librarian for training on library resources at guides.lib.byu.edu/family_sciences.

Student Support Services. In addition to the library, students can receive support in various ways.

The Computing Lab in the Comprehensive Clinic: For students enrolled in the MFT program, the computing lab in the Taylor Building is available. All software in this lab is Windows-based and includes: Microsoft Office (Word, Excel, Power Point, Publisher, Access) Media Player, Adobe, Mozilla Firefox, Internet Explorer, AMS Stata and SPSS. There is a charge for printing using your BYU signature card. The university, FHSS college, and the School of Family Life have a variety of other computer facilities that can assist students, including several Mac labs.

Statistical Consultation: Statistical consultation is available for research assistants and students working on thesis, dissertations, or research. The FHSS research support center is located at SWKT 116 (fhssrc.byu.edu). Walk-ins are welcome, but you can also schedule an appointment by calling 801-422-5114 or emailing FHSS-research@byu.edu. For additional support, contact the Assistant Director (Chongming Yang, 801-422-5694 or Chongming_Yang@byu.edu). There are also open labs in the area if you need access to a computer with statistical software.

Writing Consultation: The FHSS Writing Lab is available to help students with a variety of writing aspects such as, organization, development, thesis construction, structure, transition statements, grammar, focus, tone, and documentation style (APA format). The lab is located in 1175 JFSB where you can meet on-on-one with a peer advisor. To prepare, a student should take, (1) a copy of the assignment, (2) a hard copy of your draft, whatever stage it may be in, and (3) a list of questions and concern you have about your paper. You can walk-in or schedule an appointment. For more information including hours the lab is open, go to the FHSS writing lab website (fhsswriting.byu.edu), call 801-422-4454, or email fhss-writinglab@byu.edu.

Graduate Studies and Financial Aid

① What financial assistance is available?

The BYU Marriage and Family Therapy (MS and Ph.D.) programs involve demanding full-time professional training as students complete courses; provide hundreds of hours of supervised individual, couple, and family therapy; and finish a research project, write a thesis, or write a dissertation. Although these responsibilities, opportunities, and experiences often take precedence in graduate student's lives, successful students balance their busy graduate student life with appropriate personal and family time. During their time of full-time study, it is strongly recommended that MFT students not be employed beyond the explained university financial support.

As students meet regularly with their advisory chair, they are encouraged to discuss individual financial and other personal circumstances which may impede progress with their graduate studies. Together, possible solutions to individual situations may be determined. The advisory chair may also consult with the MFT Program Coordinator and/or the MFT faculty as warranted.

Depending on availability of scholarships and other program level funding, the MFT Program is generally able to provide all Master's students with a 25% tuition cost scholarship/fellowship. As a result, all students are generally required to work as a research assistantship (RA) for 10 hours each week with their faculty advisor during their two years of study. Research hours are paid time and are completed according to the Y-Time system.

Depending on availability of scholarships and other program level funding, the MFT Program is generally able to provide all doctoral students with a 100% tuition scholarship/fellowship. As a result, all doctoral students are generally provided with a 20 hour per week contract position as research assistants (RA) during the two years of study prior to their internship year.

Income during the doctoral internship year may be received from a variety of sources (SFL undergraduate teaching, off-site clinical work, research assistantship support from the program or SFL). It is a good idea to begin planning for the internship year during the 1st or 2nd year in the program.

This level of financial support has been provided over the years so students can devote their attention full-time to their graduate studies and clinical work to progress toward the completion of their graduate degree in a timely manner.

In the same way that out-of-state tuition is higher, non-LDS tuition costs are higher (about twice the amount of LDS students). The same tuition dollar amount is always covered by the MFT program for LDS and non-LDS students alike, but wherever possible the program seeks to provide equal percentages of tuition support to both groups (e.g., if we pay 75% of tuition for LDS students, we strive to cover the same percentage for non-LDS students).

Important note: University guidelines stipulate that students must be registered for at least two graduate credit hours during each semester or one credit in each term they are working in order to hold an assistantship. If a student drops below the required number of credits, it results in the termination of their contract (for appeals, contact the HR department byu.edu/hr).

Research and Teaching Assistantships (RA)

Research assistantships (RA) are experiences where students are hired to work on research projects directed by the faculty. Teaching assistantships (TA) are part-time employment teaching undergraduate courses under supervision. Assistantships can be quarter-time (MS students, 10 hours per week) or half-time positions (Ph.D. students, 20 hours per week).

Other Financial Support. Additional options for financial support are available within the College of Family, Home, and Social Sciences, School of Family Life and through the BYU Graduate Studies office. For more information, consult the FHSS website (fhssadv.byu.edu/Pages/Scholarships.aspx) or the BYU Graduate Studies Website (gradustudies.byu.edu/page/costs-financial-aid). Some of the available grants include:

HIDRA: The High Impact Doctoral Research Assistantship (HIDRA) award program is designed for faculty to recruit non-BYU originating Ph.D. graduate students, and is therefore restricted to applicants whose undergraduate and master's education was obtained at other institutions. The applicant must agree to be supervised by a faculty member who has an active research program. Faculty members are encouraged to use the HIDRA program to recruit high-quality applicants.

To be considered, the faculty member and the applicant must submit a joint proposal to Graduate Studies.

The faculty members' portion of the proposal must include:

- A current curriculum vitae
- A description of the proposed research and the role of the graduate student
- An explanation of how the proposed research addresses the long-term goals of the graduate program
- The expected results of the research
- Letters of recommendation from the dean and department chair that evaluate the qualifications of the faculty member, the significance of the proposed work, and the level of the department/college support

The applicant's portion of the proposal must include:

- A current curriculum vitae
- GPA, GRE, and other scores relevant to the discipline
- A description of the proposed research
- Three letters of recommendation from qualified academic sources

A total of five HIDRA awards will be granted each year, with no more than two coming from the same college.

The awards will be for $30,000 per academic year for a maximum of three years. Students and faculty will be required to submit annual written reports of progress in order for the awards to be continued. Students who receive the HIDRA award must adhere to Brigham Young University's Honor Code while a student at BYU. Deadline is January 15th.

Please check the BYU Grad Studies website for the most up-to-date information about this award.

Graduate Mentoring Assistantships: The assistantship is a faculty-originated funding mechanism which gives graduate students an opportunity to mentor undergraduate students.

The goal of the GMA program is to enable students (both undergraduate and graduate) to participate in a scholarly project that is of extraordinary and potentially life-changing experiential significance that would not be possible without funding from Graduate Studies.

Funding is limited to a maximum of $15,000, depending on the resource needs of the proposed project, and must be restricted to direct support of the proposed project. The applicant must include an itemized budget.

Proposals are initiated by faculty and submitted to the dean of their respective colleges. The dean will evaluate the proposals and submit their rank-ordered proposals to Graduate Studies no later than January 15th. Each college will establish its own deadlines for receiving proposals from the faculty. The MFT program requests that you submit your proposal for review no later than the last day of Fall Semester.

The criteria for this award are as follows:

- Students must be engaged in scholarship that goes beyond what is considered normal or routine for a high quality graduate experience in this discipline

- Students must be required to demonstrate a high degree of maturity, initiative, and independence
- In addition to a clear, coherent, but concise description of the scholarly content of the proposed project, the applicant must explain how it will enable the students to significantly deepen their understanding of the principles and truths of their discipline
- The applicant must provide a convincing argument that the proposed project will not be financially possible without funding from Graduate Studies. If it is to be performed in conjunction with other scholarly projects, the distinctive features of this project must be clearly identified

Please check the BYU Grad Studies website for the most up-to-date information about this award.

Research Presentation Awards (RPA): This award is specific to Graduate Student Society (GSS), and is not directly affiliated with BYU Graduate Studies. Graduate students presenting original research at conferences or performing or displaying creative work are eligible to receive a Research Presentation Award (RPA) averaging $400. RPAs are intended to enable graduate students to travel to important conferences or events within their discipline in order to present their scholarly and creative work.

Please check the BYU Grad Studies website for the most up-to-date information about this award.

Segal AmeriCorps Education Award Current MFT Students are eligible to get an education award for providing service through AmeriCorps, a Federal program that uses Pell Grant money to provide education awards.

Working in a non-profit, not for profit, or government institution (such as the BYU Comprehensive Clinic, BYU Women's Services, IHC, DCFS, Wasatch Mental Health etc.) can count as service. The money that is awarded can be credited toward tuition or student loans or continuing education credits. The grant is distributed upon completion of the terms of service.

AmeriCorps Member Eligibility Requirements include:

- US Citizenship of permanent residency
- High school diploma or GED
- 17 years of age or older
- Completed FBI fingerprint background check (completed to enter the BYU MFT program)
- Completed required paperwork including monthly time logs
- Completed required 300 minimum service hours within a one year time frame
- Recruit volunteer to serve for 2 hours at agency
- Participate in MSWSA service project

The requirement for 300 service hours within a year can include time prepping for a client, case notes, and time in the therapy room, and up to 60 hours of class time.

The grant amounts vary each year. For 2019, the award for 300 hours is $1290 per year. The amount for 450 hours is $1612. The amount for 675 hours is $2321. Larger grants for increased service hours exist and can be found on the AmeriCorps website.

The grant requirements are to:

- Be enrolled in the AmeriCorps system
- Complete monthly time logs with a couple reflection questions
- Complete a service project (it could even be one hour of sorting through clothes hosted by a service group on campus)

Students have the opportunity to enroll at the beginning of each Fall Semester and, sometimes, at the beginning of Winter Semester. There are a limited number of openings. Priority will be given to students who are in good standing with the program, their advisor, and are timely with paperwork. Other limitations may apply (such as the number of times a student may receive funds). Those who are interested need to attend an enrollment meeting, which is hosted by Dr. Lauren Barnes and Charlene Clark. Contact Dr. Barnes for more information about the enrollment meeting. BYU and MFT Program Expectations

In this section you will learn about the requirements of BYU and the MFT program. This includes the ecclesiastical endorsement, dress and grooming standards, the academic policies including grade requirements, credit requirements, and non-discrimination expectations.

MFT Dress and Grooming Standards

① Is there a dress code?

It is expected that MFT students will abide by the BYU Dress and Grooming Standards in every setting throughout the program.

Additional requirements exist for therapy sessions and are outlined as follows.

For women: A reasonable length skirt or pants of a non-jeans material combined with a professional top (such as a dress shirt, blouse, polo, etc) is considered acceptable. An informal dress with appropriate skirt length is also acceptable.

For men: A combination of collared shirt (such as a dress or polo shirt) and professional pants of a non-jean material (such as khakis or blue, green, brown, or black trousers). Shoes should be business-casual in style. A blazer or business jacket can optionally be added.

For either gender: Unacceptable clothing includes: rumpled or ripped clothing, miniskirts, T-shirts, jeans, flip-flops, underwear as outerwear, inappropriately revealing attire such as bare midriffs, or very tight fitting clothing.

Ecclesiastical Endorsements

All applicants should start the process early to obtain an endorsement. All applicants need an endorsement interview with a bishop and a stake president (or local religious leader and BYU Chaplain) before your application can be fully considered. Start this process at endorse.byu.edu.

Matriculated graduate students will need to obtain a continuing endorsement every Winter Semester before he/she can register for the following Fall Semester. You must have an active endorsement in order to be cleared for graduation.

MFT Academic Policy

The Admissions Process. All MFT faculty comprise the Admissions Committee for the MS and Ph.D. programs. Students are admitted beginning Fall Semester only. Applications must be complete by December 1st of the year preceding Fall Semester admission. All faculty review admissions files and meet together to discuss and approve those students who will be invited for face-to-face interviews. All of the MFT faculty meet with those invited to interview in a day long process involving group and individual interviews. Following the completion of interviews, the faculty meet and discuss each candidate in terms of matching the goals of the candidate to what the program can offer and match to potential committee chairs. Decisions about who will be admitted must receive the approval of every MFT faculty member. At which point, advisory chairs are assigned. (A change of advisors can be made after the student enters the program.) The program also adheres to all BYU Graduate Studies Admissions Policies which can be found at length on the Grad Studies website.

Ethical Considerations. In accordance with principle 4.6 of the AAMFT code of ethics, as marriage and family therapists, supervisors, and faculty, we 'make every effort to avoid conditions and multiple relationships with [students and] supervisees that could impair professional judgement or increase the risk of exploitation. Examples of such relationships include, but are not limited to, business or close personal relationships with supervisees or the supervisee's immediate family.' As a result, applicants with 'close personal relationships' with faculty of staff in the School of Family Life at BYU will not be considered for admission."

Grade Requirements. All MFT Graduate students must maintain a 3.0 Grade Point Average (GPA) for courses on their Program of Study. Any clinical course with a grade which falls below a B- must be repeated and may put your program standing in jeopardy. (See Coursework Expectations later in this chapter for more information.) No D credit may apply toward the graduate degree.

MFT Program Student Recruitment. The policy of the MFT program is to actively recruit students of any undergraduate major, but especially those in the social and behavior sciences for admission to the MFT MS program. The Ph.D. program actively recruits students who have received master's degrees in MFT from COAMFTE accredited MFT MS programs in the U.S. and Canada. Students will master's degrees in other mental health disciplines (Counseling, Psychology, Social Work, etc.) are recruited to the program with the understanding that they will be required to complete courses required in the BYU MFT master's program and the required clinical and supervision hours before they begin their doctoral coursework. This usually adds 1–1.5 years of coursework and clinical work to a student's graduation timeline. Students of all nationalities, races, ethnicities are welcome to apply to the program and are equally considered without discrimination or segregation on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, age, or disability. However, all students, faculty, and employees are required to abide by BYU's Honor Code, which can be found on the BYU website.

The Clinical Director and Program Director hold various recruitment meetings throughout the year on BYU's campus in addition to periodic visits to other university campuses.

Non-Discrimination Statement (BYU, MS, and Ph.D. Programs). The Marriage and Family Therapy Graduate Program provides equal opportunity in couple, marriage, and family therapy education for all persons, including faculty and employees with respect to hiring, continuation, promotion and continuing faculty status (i.e. tenure), applicants for admission, enrolled students, and graduates, without discrimination or segregation on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, age, or disability. However, all students, faculty, and employees are required to abide by the Honor Code, a behavioral code of the university. If or when these policies conflict, the BYU Honor Code shall take precedence as confirmed in the Commission on Accreditation for Marriage and Family Therapy Education Accreditation Manual 12.0 Version, “Programs with a religious affiliation or purpose may have policies that are directly related to their religious affiliation or purpose and that conflict with the aforementioned anti-discrimination policy requirements, provided they are published and accessible policies, and available publicly to applicants, students, faculty members, supervisors, and any other relevant educators and/or staff prior to any affiliation with or enrollment in the program.” (p. 14).

Further, the program’s non-discrimination statement is consistent with the Comprehensive Clinic’s non-discrimination statement. Located in the Clinic’s brochure, it reads as follows: “Services are provided to otherwise qualified individuals within our screening criteria without regard to religious beliefs, gender, sexual orientation, age, race, culture, ethnicity, national origin, socioeconomic status, or physical and mental abilities.”

Diversity Statement (BYU, MS, Ph.D. Programs). We esteem all individuals and families as valuable and worthy of understanding and respect. Although it can be difficult to acknowledge and affirm the experiences of those who are different than oneself, it is our belief that all are enriched by this process. As we work to understand each other across the diversities of cultural, gender, sexual orientation, ethnic, racial, and other socio-demographic groupings, we become better individuals and more capable as agents of therapeutic change. Along with the more traditional markers of diversity, we are also mindful of other factors that contribute to a better educational environment. These other factors may include, but are not limited to, international experiences, differential experiences of privilege and oppression, varying types of spiritual and religious faith, exposure to life challenges, and ability to consider the perspectives of others. Pragmatically, we realize that initial conversations between people (who are different from one another) are sometimes filled with conflict, disagreement and bias. However, given this relative inevitability, we work to foster an environment where continued dialogue is possible and encouraged in order to increase the possibility for life lessons to be shared.

In addition, we maintain that a culturally-diverse training environment is a culturally- and professionally-rich learning environment in the following ways:

- Diverse faculty, student body, and client populations help encourage careful and critical thinking. This facilitates the educational experience for all and helps our clients (current and future) receive more customized treatments.
- Each individual and family has something to learn and something to teach. When we understand and respect the ideas of others, there is an increased possibility for cooperative efforts in accomplishing individual and shared goals.
- Students educated in a culturally-diverse environment are better able to function with adaptability, professionalism, and creativity when serving others in their respective roles as therapists, educators, supervisors, advocates, and so forth.
- Students and faculty who have discussed, read about, and interacted with others around topics such as power, privilege, and oppression, are more likely to be sensitive, self-aware, other-aware, and effective when working with clients from all backgrounds.”

It is our belief that quality training cannot occur if students are deprived of the opportunity to foster relationships with others that differ from their own, particularly with regard to culture, race and gender. Furthermore, respect and understanding for diversity has been identified as one of our key educational outcomes in each area: student, faculty, and program objectives.

Student Retention. Once a student is admitted to the MFT MS or Ph.D. Program, every effort is made by the faculty to help the student successfully complete the requirements to receive the degree. However, students must be able to demonstrate that they are making satisfactory progress toward achievement of the student learning outcomes. As required by Graduate Studies policy, the MFT program reviews student performance twice each year. If a student's performance is reviewed by the faculty as marginal or unsatisfactory, a written plan that outlines specific steps a student must take to remedy their performance is sent in a letter to the student. The faculty will use the plan set forward in that letter to carefully examine whether the student has complied with the steps at the next student review. Two unsatisfactory ratings at any point in a student's program will result in the student being dismissed from the program.

Client Safety. If a supervisor is concerned that a student's clinical performance possibly places clients at risk for harm, the supervisor will immediately bring the issue to the attention of the program faculty who will decide as a faculty what direction to take. Client welfare is the main determining factor in these situations and the program faculty will exercise due diligence in responding to the situation. A written letter outlining a course of action will be sent to the student from the faculty. It is likely that a student will be asked to not continue seeing clients and will not be allowed to register for the practicum course until the program faculty agrees that the student has complied with steps outlined in the letter to ensure client safety.

Graduate Studies Academic Policies

Minimum Credit Hours. BYU Graduate students are required to register for a minimum number of credit hours. More details can be found on the Grad Studies website.

Grade Requirements. Graduate students whose graduate Program of Study Grade Point Average (GPA) falls below 3.0 (prerequisite and skill courses are exempt) will not be allowed to graduate and may be dismissed from their graduate program. Students whose grades frequently fall in the C range or below should consult with their committee about the advisability of continuing their graduate studies. No D credit may apply toward a graduate degree.

Additional Policies. Additional BYU Graduate Studies Policies can be found at gradstudies.byu.edu/page/policies-and-procedures.

Coursework Expectations

Progress Reports for Students Graduate students may access their progress report through AIM on my.byu.edu. This report compares the student's Program of Study with the courses taken and summarizes the student's progress in the program: completed classes, current registration, classes still needed, and grade point average. In addition, the progress report alerts a student to possible problems with academic status, GPA, prerequisites needed, minimum registration requirements, time limits, and courses. Because the Office of Graduate Studies frequently updates and reports crucial information to the student's progress report, it is important for students to check their progress report regularly.

Time Limits for Completion of Degree The university has set time limits for the completion of graduate degrees and the MFT program encourages students to complete their degree in a timely manner (see gradstudies.byu.edu/page/policies-and-procedures).

Important Note: MS students must successfully schedule their thesis proposal meeting by the end of Fall Semester of their second year. If this is not scheduled, you will lose your assistantship support beginning the following Winter Semester. You will also receive a less-than-satisfactory rating for Fall. If your proposal is not scheduled by the end of Winter Semester, you will receive a second less-than-satisfactory rating for Winter and will be asked to leave the program.

Master's students are expected to complete all courses and clinical hours in two years. In unusual circumstances, additional time may be allowed. However, in all cases, students must complete graduation requirements with in five to be awarded the degree.

① As a doctoral student, what are the time constraints to complete my degree?

Doctoral students are expected to complete all courses within three years and to complete clinical hours and dissertation research during the final (fourth) internship year. Financial assistance from the MFT program is offered only during the first two years; however, there may be funds available to support RA/TA work during the 3rd, and possibly 4th years. All students must complete the graduation requirements within eight years to be awarded the degree.

More information about time limits can be found in the policies and procedures posted on the Grad Studies website.

① How will my progress be evaluated?

Formal Graduate Student Evaluation and Feedback The MFT faculty evaluates the progress of students during semiannual reviews (Fall and Winter Semesters). In order to allow the faculty to consider important contextualizing information, students should keep their advisor apprised of any problems that might be impacting their performance in the program.

Possible evaluations are satisfactory, marginal, and unsatisfactory. Fortunately, most students receive satisfactory evaluations as they progress in their program. Students who receive marginal or unsatisfactory evaluations are given specific requirements for remedying the deficiency. Students who have concerns regarding their evaluation can discuss it with their chair, the program director, and if needed the MFT faculty. Although very rare, it is important to note that students who receive more than one consecutive unsatisfactory or marginal evaluation may be dismissed from the program.

The MFT faculty has determination of what constitutes a satisfactory, marginal, and unsatisfactory progress is as follows: (Some criteria are only applicable as appropriate for the number of semesters in the program):

Satisfactory:

- Submit a signed Program of Study Form

- Establish a graduate committee
- Satisfactory contact with chair and/or committee members
- Identification of a thesis/dissertation topic or clinical focus
- Thesis proposal is approved
- Acceptable performance in assistantship
- Progress towards completing thesis/dissertation or clinical presentation
- Completing coursework on the timetable consistent with your Program of Study
- Satisfactory program participation and involvement
- Passing courses with B or higher
- Satisfactory clinical development and/or case management
- Satisfactory self-of-therapist progress
- Timely communication with all program faculty and staff

Marginal:

- Inadequate clinical development and/or case management
- Inadequate self-of-therapist progress
- Lack of program participation and involvement
- Failure to establish a graduate committee
- Failure to submit a signed Program of Study
- Lack of progress in completing coursework
- Serious difficulty with coursework
- A grade of B- in any course (a B- or lower in practicum means those hours will not count toward graduation)
- Poor performance in assistantship
- Minimal contact with chair or advisory committee members
- Being unreliable, unprepared, or unethical in assistantship assignments
- Thesis proposal not approved
- Little progress toward completing thesis/dissertation or clinical presentation
- Registering for thesis/dissertation or project hours when little to no work has been done

- Poor communication/emails with program faculty and staff (not responding within 24 hours, etc.)
- Not scheduling proposal by the beginning of their second Winter Semester (MS only)
- Other specific faculty concerns

Unsatisfactory:

- All points in marginal rating can become unsatisfactory depending on the severity of the problem
- Failure to resolve any problems or fulfill any requirements indicated in a previous review
- A grade below a B– in any course
- A grade of B– in any two courses in one semester
- Concerns about ethics or professional behavior
- Concerns regarding clinical development and case management
- Other specific faculty concerns

Evaluation Outcomes:

① What happens if I receive a poor evaluation?

All MFT faculty and supervisors are invited to the meetings where these student evaluations occur. During the evaluation, the Committee Chair presents information about the progress of each student including therapy and supervision hours logged to that point. The student's current instructors and the current supervisor are invited to share their assessment of each student's performance.

After careful evaluation, each faculty member votes whether a student's performance is satisfactory, marginal, or unsatisfactory. The results of these evaluations are sent to each student in a written letter with the Program Director's and the Committee Chair's signatures. The Committee Chair is often asked to meet with the student to give them feedback resulting from these reviews in person. However, the information in the letter takes precedence over anything the Committee Chair says verbally.

Students who are rated at marginal or unsatisfactory are given specific written requirements for remedying the deficiency. These instructions include: (a) what the student needs to do to remedy their status, (b) the deadline for completion of said remediation, and (c) whom to contact for help in demonstrating satisfactory progress.

Students who receive a marginal rating cannot receive a marginal rating the following semester. The student must improve to satisfactory or he or she will receive an unsatisfactory rating. A student who has received a marginal followed by an unsatisfactory rating or a student with two consecutive unsatisfactory ratings will generally be dismissed from the program at the conclusion of the semester.

Corrective Actions

Fortunately, corrective actions are rarely needed. However, you will want to be familiar with this section so you know how to avoid running into difficulty.

Termination of Graduate Status Termination of graduate status may result if a student:

- Fails to fulfill the university's minimum registration requirement
- Requests to withdraw (with the intent to pursue a degree at another university, for personal reasons, or in response to program recommendation)
- Receives a marginal or unsatisfactory rating in a periodic review by the academic program and is unable or unwilling to comply with conditions for continuance outlined by the program
- Receives two consecutive unsatisfactory ratings in a periodic review by the faculty
- Fails to make what the program or the university deem to be satisfactory progress toward a graduate degree
- Fails the program's comprehensive exam
- Fails the final oral examination (defense of dissertation, thesis, or project)
- Violates the university's standards of conduct as outlined in the BYU Honor Code

Appeal of Termination from Program A student dismissed or facing dismissal may respond to or appeal that termination or impending termination. Such responses or appeals should be directed, in writing, to the MFT Program Chair.

A student who wishes further consideration may appeal to the Director of the School of Family Life (Alan Hawkins: alan_hawkins@byu.edu or 801-422-7088). Ultimately, a final appeal may be made to The University Graduate Dean (Wynn Stirling: 801-422-4465 or wynn_stirling@byu.edu) who, if circumstances warrant it, may appoint a committee of impartial faculty members to adjudicate the matter.

MFT Program Governance

Governance of the MFT Master's and Doctoral Programs is influenced by university-level policies and input from students, faculty, supervisors, graduates, and other communities of interest. The primary means of communication among MFT faculty is during weekly faculty meetings. While informal exchanges occur frequently through email and personal discussions, face-to-face faculty meetings are where program-level decisions are discussed and finalized.

When decisions or policy revisions are made that impact students, this will be communicated to students via email and/or in-person meetings (with the program director, clinical director, and/or student representatives). As needed, program-level changes are communicated to, and approved by, administrators at the departmental, college and graduate studies levels. Formal policy changes are also published in the MFT Program Handbook (reviewed and updated annually). Given the importance that each contributor has to program governance, the roles of faculty, current students, and other communities of interest are detailed below. This helps articulate our respective roles in the combined mission of the MFT programs.

Role of MFT Faculty in Program Governance

The role of the MFT faculty in governance of both the MS and Ph.D. programs occurs as follows:

Student Academic Grievances Policy The university has an established procedure for handling student academic grievances and can be found starting on page B53 of the Policies and Procedures manual, which can be found on the Grad Studies website.

Participation in Regular Faculty Meetings. MFT faculty meetings are held weekly during Fall and Winter Semesters and as needed during Spring and Summer Terms. Full-time faculty are expected to attend these meetings, while adjunct faculty and supervisors are invited to attend. Topics of discussion in meetings include curriculum, supervision, clinic procedures, program policies, and student progress. Elected student representatives from the MS and Ph.D. program are also invited to these meetings. When changes in curriculum, policy, educational outcomes, or other MFT program matters are being considered, they are first discussed and then voted upon with each faculty member having a vote, and majority vote determining the decision.

Participation in MFT Faculty Retreats. Faculty retreat meetings occur each year, usually in May and August. During the meeting, faculty review the program's educational outcomes and discuss data related to the outcomes, as well as feedback from communities of interest (students, graduates, supervisors, and faculty). When there is evidence of a problem or obstacle, potential changes are first discussed and then voted upon with each faculty member have a vote, and majority vote determining the decision.

Participation in Admissions Decisions. All MFT faculty comprise the Admissions Committee for the MS and Ph.D. programs. Students are admitted to Fall Semester only, and applications must be complete by December 1st of the year preceding Fall admission. All faculty members review the admissions files and meet together to discuss and choose those students who will be invited for face-to-face interviews. All MFT faculty members meet with the potential candidates, in a day-long process involving group and individual interviews. Following the completion of interviews, the faculty meet and discuss each candidate to ensure that the candidate's goals align with the program goals and match the candidates to potential committee chairs. Decisions about who will be admitted must receive approval of every MFT faculty member. Advisory chairs are assigned at this time, although changes can be made after the student enters the program. The program also adheres to all BYU Graduate Studies Admissions Policies which can be found on the Grad Studies website.

Participation in Bi-Annual Student Evaluations. Student performance in academic, clinical and research endeavors are continually monitored by faculty. The review process—and timing of each part of the review process—is communicated to students in their initial orientation to the program and in advisor-student meetings. Formal assessments are charted herein and are also presented in relevant course syllabi. In addition, the program's less-formal but continual assessments and their schedule are presented here:

- Regular feedback from supervisors regarding clinical skills and competencies.
 - Timing: Students should expect regular feedback in each supervision session with more formal, evaluative feedback at the end of each semester/term.
- Regular reports from the BYU Comprehensive Clinic auditor regarding case notes and other case file records, audited for completion and timeliness.
 - Timing: Every two weeks.
- Review of academic progress over the course of the semester.
 - Timing: Periodically throughout the semester/term as student assignments are submitted and graded.

- End of semester grades for each required course. These grades reflect satisfactory progress in completing coursework and making progress in terms of student learning outcomes.
 - Timing: End-of-semester evaluations.
- Satisfactory progress on completing required clinical hours.
 - Timing: Bi-annual formal evaluations in January and May.
- Regular completion of tasks assigned as a research assistant.
 - Timing: At least monthly, as individual faculty advisors review the assignment and completion of RA-related tasks.
- Satisfactory progress on thesis/dissertation.
 - Timing: Monthly reviews of progress with faculty advisors and in bi-annual formal evaluations in January and May.

Other Evaluative Roles of Faculty. In an indirect way, faculty participate in program governance through their evaluation of course projects and assignment of course grades. Since all of the MFT faculty are also supervisors, they too evaluate students' clinical performance every semester they teach practicum. Faculty serve on thesis, dissertation, and clinical project committees and vote on the outcome of proposal review meetings, clinical presentations, and final defenses. When they are assigned, they serve as evaluators for doctoral case presentations and portfolios.

Role of Program Director in Program Governance

The Program Director's role in program governance includes a variety of responsibilities, all connected to the responsibility to maintain and enhance program quality. However, his/her job description is as follows:

- Represent the MFT program to the School of Family Life (as part of the SFL executive committee) and, as needed, to the College of Family, Home, and Social Sciences
- Coordinate COAMFTE accreditation compliance and interactions with the commission

- Supervise/advise students, faculty, and staff regarding their program governance duties
- Facilitate accomplishment of educational outcomes, along with the regular review of data and specific faculty, program and student outcomes
- Create and maintain a training environment that is conducive to clinical training and sensitive to diversity
- Manage the programs' budgets and coordinating funding for student wages, tuition support, faculty purchases, travel support, recruitment related expenditures, etc
- Coordinate program decisions about students admissions, funding support, formal evaluations, and remediation plans
- Oversee curriculum decisions and course development
- Interact with the Comprehensive Clinic directorship to review and advocate for MFT resources/facilities and to facilitate services for clients (a primary community of interest)
- Coordinate course schedules with the university, Comprehensive Clinic, and MFT program entities

The Program Director is also a member of the faculty, and when faculty vote to make any changes to the program, the Program Director will then take appropriate steps to implement the improvements. Faculty are always consulted and asked to vote regarding any changes to the curriculum, educational outcomes, student evaluations, and program policies. The Program Director does not make decisions without collaborating with the faculty and asking for a vote where the director has an equal vote with all other faculty. While the program faculty have authority to vote and propose changes in curriculum, such changes must move through a process that includes approval from the Director of the School of Family Life, from the Dean of the College of Family, Home, and Social Sciences, and from the University Curriculum Council. Any changes in course numbering, degree requirements, or program name changes can be proposed by the faculty but ultimately must receive University Curriculum Council approval.

Evaluation of Program Director: The program director is selected by nomination from the MFT program faculty and serve under the direction of the School of Family Life director. The program director is evaluated yearly by the SFL director, based on his/her performance as a faculty member (areas evaluated include scholarship, teaching, and citizenship) and as an administrator. The program director's performance is also evaluated using a yearly survey of MFT students/faculty and feedback provided to the SFL director.

If a program director is found to perform in an unsatisfactory fashion (as determined by faculty, students or the SFL director), the program director will be released from this assignment or a remediation plan will be developed by the program director and the SFL director. Individual circumstances and the nature of the unsatisfactory performance will determine which option is selected. If the remediation option is selected, the program director and SFL director will meet at least monthly during a three-month probationary period to track overall progress and facilitate changes in the performance areas deemed to be unsatisfactory. If the remediation plan is successfully enacted, the program director will continue to serve until the end of the allotted three-year timespan unless further problems are discovered. If the remediation plan is not successfully completed, the program director will be released and another faculty member will be selected to serve as program director.

Role of Students in Program Governance

① As a student, what is my role in the MFT program?

You, the MFT students, are an important community of interest for the MFT Master's and Doctoral Programs at BYU.

The program expects you to take the opportunity to express your voice regarding the curriculum and program policies and procedures. You are being socialized into a professional role, and part of our role as a marriage and family therapist is to find ways for our feedback to influence the systems that surround us. In the course of your professional development, we expect you to take advantage of the following opportunities to provide feedback.

Monday Faculty Meetings. The MFT faculty meets each Monday 11 a.m. to 12 p.m. in 227 TLRB. These meetings are the vehicle for regular contact and interaction regarding program administration, revision, and evaluation. All faculty, two student representatives, the accreditation manager, and the MFT part-time lead secretary are in attendance. These meetings are also open to all MFT students. When confidential matters are discussed, the meeting moves into an executive session and non-faculty attendees are dismissed from the meeting.

End of Semester/Term Student Evaluation of Courses. At the end of every semester/term, the online Student Ratings system allows students to confidentially rate their BYU learning experience. Students are encouraged to provide feedback about their courses and instructors (including practica). Approximately two weeks after grades are submitted, reports of rating results are provided to BYU faculty and administrators. The student ratings are very important in helping instructors improve their teaching and in helping the University evaluate courses and faculty. As mentioned earlier in this handbook, one of the main outcomes or goals that the faculty are trying to meet is “demonstrating effective teaching abilities.” In this endeavor, your ratings of courses and instructors is extremely important in supporting the program’s self-assessment (part of accreditation) while maintaining and increasing teaching quality.

Your evaluations are also important within the university system. As stated by our University President, Kevin Worthen:

“We need your input. Student evaluations of BYU faculty and courses are extremely important.

- Faculty are expected to review them to improve their courses and teaching methods.
- Department chairs are expected to review them annually with faculty to assess teaching effectiveness.
- University committees consider them carefully as part of faculty reviews to determine who is retained and promoted.

Without your responsible input, we cannot effectively assess and improve teaching performance and student learning. Please be honest, fair, and constructive as you complete your evaluations.

Your evaluations really do matter”

(President Kevin J. Worthen, message to students, 2015).

End of Semester/Term Supervisee Evaluation of Supervisors.

In addition to rating your practica through the university online ratings system, you will receive a form in your MFT mail box asking you to evaluate your experiences with your supervisor. Your ratings are anonymous so you shouldn’t put your name on these forms. However, you must complete the form and return it to the MFT secretaries. After the semester is over, your responses are aggregated and provided to supervisors. The aggregated ratings are discussed in regular faculty retreats in efforts to improve clinical supervision.

Meetings with Your Elected Student Representatives.

Each year the MS students elect a student representative, and the Ph.D. students elect a student representative. These two students are invited to attend weekly faculty meetings, where typically the first item on the agenda is feedback from students. In order to solicit your feedback, your student representatives will hold regular meetings (usually monthly) in order to exchange information, provide feedback, and/or problem-solve student related issues. The program expects you to attend these meetings. These meetings are a chance for you to express concerns as well as highlight strengths of your experiences in the program, the clinic, supervision, and any other issues. Your representatives then bring the main points regarding these concerns to faculty meeting without divulging anyone’s identity. From time-to-time, the faculty ask the student representatives to seek your input on issues the faculty may be considering. Of course, student representatives are available to hear your feedback at times through email or personal contact.

Semester Cohort Meetings with Program and Clinical Directors.

You are expected to attend a group meeting once in Fall Semester and once in Winter Semester with the Program Director and Clinical Director. This is an opportunity to share suggestions for improvement and collaboratively problem solve around concerns. The themes of your feedback in these meetings are reported to the faculty and supervisors without any identifying information about who gave the feedback.

Exit Survey Near Graduation. At the end of the program, you will receive an exit survey from the accreditation manager asking about specific knowledge and skill you have gained. The survey will ask you to rate where you perceived yourself at the beginning of the program and where you see yourself as you are nearing graduation. The information is aggregated and used to inform our deliberations about how well we are meeting our educational outcomes and how we can improve.

Additionally, the exit survey will ask you to evaluate of university-level support resources (e.g., library, financial aid, counseling services, accessibility services). As noted above, this information is aggregated and used to help inform program faculty and administrators (and upper administrators) about your experience as a graduate student and as a MFT student (MS program or Ph.D. program).

The exit survey data are reviewed and discussed in the faculty retreats which occur each August and May. Filling out this survey is required.

Communication with Your Committee Chair, Supervisors, Committee Members, and Faculty. We also invite you to share any suggestions with your chair, committee members, your supervisors, and faculty as you journey through the program with faculty or staff. This feedback, if sensitive in nature, can be shared by that individual without any identifying the source.

Responsibilities Related to Communication of Information. Email is the primary form of communication that faculty and staff use in relaying information to you. Emails are sent to the address that the university has on file unless you inform us otherwise. You will receive regular emails, usually weekly, from the program as well as a monthly newsletter which communicates information relevant to available scholarships, presentations of interest, and student and faculty news. You are responsible for knowing the information in these communications.

Handbook: You are responsible for knowing the information in this handbook. You will be held to the expectations that are communicated in its content.

Mailbox: Each student has a mailbox located in the MFT office. You should check this box regularly for messages from the program, class-related documents from the faculty, and messages that may be communicated to you from the Clinic.

Committee Chair: Your Committee Chair is an important link between you and the program. Sometimes, your chair will be the source of communication from the program and a source of your communication with the program.

Role of Other Communities of Interest in Program Governance

As noted above, in addition to the MFT program faculty and students, other communities of interest for the MFT programs include program graduates and their employers. Both communities will be contacted and surveyed regularly (at least once every other year) by the clinical director or accreditation manager using an online survey. Available data will be reviewed and discussed in the MFT faculty retreat in May. Among the data to be collected, reviewed and discussed are graduation rates, pass rates for licensing exam, job placement rates, employer satisfaction (see Appendix K for the employer survey), and alumni satisfaction (see Appendix L for the alumni survey).

Chapter 3: Comprehensive Clinic

Students conduct their supervised therapy experience (practicum) in the BYU Comprehensive Clinic. The clinic has policies and procedures which, when followed, ensure high quality therapy services to clients, and an optimal practicum experience for students. Important policies and procedures will be outlined here as well as in the Fall orientation meeting. Students should review this information and consult with their practicum supervisor concerning any questions or concerns.

Clinic Student Trainees Contractual Agreement

The BYU Comprehensive Clinic meets and/or exceeds all criteria required for accredited institutions of higher education. This includes having published policies for handling grievances and prohibiting discrimination on the basis of race, ethnicity, religion, and gender. This contract for student trainees will cover the entire period of your clinical training in the Clinic, and will identify the expectations on the part of each of the participants.

Qualifications: The trainee is currently a student in an accredited program at Brigham Young University which is housed in the Comprehensive Clinic (i.e. audiology, clinical psychology, marriage and family therapy, social work, or speech-language pathology), is currently enrolled as a student at Brigham Young University, and has documentation of current liability insurance which is valid for the period of the contract.

The Trainee Agrees to the Following Responsibilities: The trainee agrees to meet the requirements outlined by their program areas in their Quality Assurance Documents. This includes completion of the appropriate records and forms (including intake histories, medication records, treatment plans, case notes, diagnostic formulations, terminations, summaries, assessments, referral statements, and other appropriate records) on all clients who are seen in the clinic. A record of this information is required to be entered into the Client Management System (CMS). In addition, it is expected that the trainee will meet with their individual faculty advisor for case supervision as outlined by their area, have all case notes and records co-signed by the faculty supervisor, and coordinate all transfers of cases through the Clinic staffing committee. The trainee agrees to return all client records at the end of each day to the Records and Materials Center. Only cases assigned and seen under the supervision of an approved supervisor may be seen in the Comprehensive Clinic. It is the trainee's responsibility to make arrangements to provide client coverage and have adequate individual supervision during holidays and Brigham Young University break periods (test week, spring break, etc.)

The Comprehensive Clinic (CC) Agrees to the Following Responsibilities: The clinic will be responsive to requirements of the individual training areas to meet the programs' needs for specific types of clients and experiences. The clinic will provide student progress reports to the Program Directors during each semester of training. If the student trainee's clinical and/or professional performance proves to be unsatisfactory to the CC consultation with the trainee and the program director will occur. If no resolution of the problem is reached, this contract can be terminated with 15 days of written notice. If termination of the contract occurs, the student trainee will no longer be allowed to see clients at the clinic and must immediately transfer all cases through the Clinic Staffing Committee. If the trainee disagrees with the action of the Clinic, the trainee has the right to initiate a review of their situation through the grievance policy. The CC agrees to adhere to all criteria listed in the individual program accreditation requirements as outlined in the Quality Assurance Documents. Clinical performance will be monitored including client records according to the Quality Assurance Policy and Procedures of the CC. The clinic requires all trainees to maintain the established confidentiality and other ethical guidelines outlined by their professional organizations.

Important Places in the Clinic and Why

Records and Materials Center (aka Materials Room): Client files are stored here and can be checked out by student therapists. The Materials room houses class readings, assessment instruments, SPSS manuals, and assorted toys and supplies for child and family therapy. Recorded therapy sessions and headphones are also checked out from here.

Audio/Visual Office: Therapy sessions are recorded onto DVDs and stored here.

Student Computer Lab: Computers are available on a first come/first serve basis for writing case notes, e-mailing and using the Internet, word processing, library database searches, etc. Printing is done through the BYU ID card system. There is a code for entry to this room; please obtain this code from the MFT Program Office.

Break Room: This room has a TV, a refrigerator for lunch storage, beverage and snack machine, and a microwave. Please clean up after yourself so we can keep this for student usage.

MFT Program Office (Room 234): This room houses students' and professors' boxes for mail and messages. The MFT office will make photocopies for students when they pertain to clients and when faculty members specifically request that photocopies be paid for out of their accounts. All other photocopying expenses related to papers, class projects and presentations, theses, etc., are to be paid by the student with their own copy code (see clinic part-time secretaries for code). Students will be assigned a long distance code to be used for the client contact only.

Clinic Part-Time Secretary's Office (Room 241): These secretaries provide assistance with the copier and fax machine found in room 243. Also they are ones to contact to obtain a code for the copy machine and to get signed up for CMS (Clinic's case management system). Once you obtain a login, you can access the CMS website at cmscc.byu.edu/cms3/user_login.php.

Copy Machine: The copy machine is located in TLRB room 243. To make personal copies you need to use your personal copy code. You can get this code from the Clinic Secretary in room 241. This code is yours alone and should not be shared.

Intake Officer and Quality Assurance Officer Carrels (Room 243): It will probably not be necessary to speak to the intake officer unless there are questions about his/her intake notes. The quality assurance officer is available for questions regarding adding clients to a case, reactivating cases, etc.

MFT Student Office (Room 233) This area is for personal belongings. Student-therapists can wait here for the receptionist to call about their clients. Students are offered an unsecured cubby to store personal items, school books etc. There is a code for entry to this room; please obtain this code from the MFT part-time secretaries in the MFT Program Office.

Client Management System (CMS)

Client Management System (CMS) is an easy to use web based application that manages all of your client information. With this software you will be able to schedule therapy rooms, document client contact, session notes, treatment plans, and treatment summaries. Prior to seeing your first client, Clinic staff will train you how to use CMS, usually in your first practicum course. The website is: cmscc.byu.edu/cms3/user_login.php.

Legal issues about release of information:

Unless all members sign a form to release the file, the file is not required to be released. Files are only released under Court order, attorney subpoena is not sufficient to require the release of files. All individuals over the age of 18 who are part of the case must sign a release prior to the release of the notes. For active cases, the primary therapist and supervisors handle release of information requests. For terminated cases, contact the Assistant Clinic Director (Dave Fawcett: 801-422-7749 or dave_fawcett@byu.edu).

Case Management Guidelines

Case Note Timeliness. It is prudent to write case notes as soon as possible after seeing a client, couple, or family and within 24 hours. Paper work is a necessary part of managing a case in a professional manner. All files are audited every two weeks. If a student receives an alert concerning a file, it is important to address the identified concern in as timely a manner as possible.

Contacting a New Referral. You will be notified via email when you have been assigned a new client. It is best practice to contact new clients as soon as possible, preferably within 24 hours of the case assignment. It is important to document all contact and attempted contacts in the “client contact” portion of the client file. When scheduling the first appointment, it is important to indicate on the scheduler that the individual, couple, or family are new clients in order for the receptionist to have the necessary paper work ready for client review and signature. Any needed assessment protocols should be indicated at this time. Further information as to when and how to schedule both clinic paperwork and assessments will be reviewed in your beginning practicum class.

Correspondence with a Client. Students will type any letters or correspondence for clients and have the MFT part-time secretary print it on letter-head. The student and the supervisor should sign the letter. The MFT secretary will make a copy of the letter that must be added to the client’s file. It is crucial for ethical clinical practice that any client or other confidential letters must not have any identification from the clinic or BYU. The envelopes that are used for such correspondence must be blank on which the following return address is typed:

[Student therapist’s name]
1190 North 900 East
Provo, UT 84604

The MFT secretary (in 234 TLRB) will supply a stamp for the letter since it cannot be metered. For client confidentiality, please do not use BYU return address envelopes of any kind.

Treatment Plans for MFT. Treatment plans are an important part of therapy both here in the Comprehensive Clinic and in almost all mental health settings. In the Comprehensive Clinic, treatment plans must be submitted within 24 hours of the third session. Treatment plans can be modified any time during treatment and should be if the new symptoms or patterns are discovered, if the goals or modality for therapy change. Please include all of the following categories in a treatment plan:

Presenting Problem: This is what the client system describes as the reason for coming to therapy. It may be different than the diagnosis.

Diagnosis: Using DSM-5, students should identify a diagnosis for all individuals involved in the case.

Individual Symptoms: This should be a list of symptoms of the identified patient and perhaps others if a couple or family. The symptoms should be consistent with the diagnosis but may go beyond DSM symptoms.

System Patterns: If the client is an individual, this part might include information about patterns of relationships in family, extended family, or even social support system. If the client is a couple or family, this should include brief descriptions of the patterns (interpersonal dynamics) you have identified during the first three sessions.

Goals for Therapy for Individual(s): This should include a list of what the client and the therapist hope to accomplish in therapy. These goals should guide treatment and their accomplishment will help both the client and therapist recognize progress and determine when therapy should be concluded.

Goals for Therapy for System: This should include a list of goals for changes in the client (couple for family) system

Therapy Modality: This should include the type of therapy approach/model the therapist intends to use as well as an estimated number of sessions the therapist thinks the case will need.

Counting Hours (Supervision and Client Contact): The clinical practicum supervisor serves a variety of functions in students' clinical training. One of his/her key roles is to verify clinical supervision hours and hours of clinical contact with clients. Students should discuss his/her policies on counting this time; however, the generally agreed-upon standards are as follows:

- If you watch video of another practicum member in supervision, it counts as group video supervision.
- Psycho-education is considered a non-process meeting in which you deliver MFT content. If you want to know whether to count a presentation as psycho-education, you need to consult with your supervisor at the time of the presentation.
- Reflection teams are considered an alternative hour (if they last an hour). Supervision for that hour is group live supervision.
- Fifty minutes of face-to-face is equal to 1 hour of therapy; 60 minutes = 1.2 hours, etc.
- When you are seeing a client (for an hour) and it is supervised live, you count it as an hour of therapy and an hour of live supervision.

- If you follow a case consistently, it may be an observation hour or a team therapy hours. This depends on how active you are on the case. If you are only observing, it's just an observation hour. If you actively participate in treatment planning, give the therapist feedback about what he/she did that was/wasn't planned, give feedback about the client and case, and remain an active participant throughout treatment, you may count it as a team therapy hour. However, be sure to double-check this with your practicum supervisor at the beginning of each semester, as each supervisor may have somewhat different expectations.

Additionally, it is important to be aware that:

- A download-able log to track your hours is available online at mft.byu.edu/Pages/current-students; and
- You will turn in a log of your hours each semester/term to the part-time secretary in 234 TLRB.

Family Therapy Specific Instructions: Family Therapy is based on the belief that there are systemic factors which impact any therapy case. Family therapy is often seen as a unique perspective which allows observation of and intervention in the interactional dynamics which are occurring within a family unit. From this perspective, it is important that cases are managed by a primary therapist who is aware of all the dynamics and determines appropriate treatment goals, interventions, and monitors the outcome of therapy. It is assumed that families and couples will be seen together unless there is supervisor approved clinical rationale which suggests that other types of intervention would be more appropriate.

To help students coordinate and facilitate couple and family therapy, the following guidelines have been developed for use in the MFT program:

- One therapist will be assigned as the primary therapist for each case
- The case file for the family will include all notes written on any member of the family seen. If the case is concurrently assigned to a co-therapist for some part of the therapy, a copy of the individual (adolescent, spouse, or child) notes will be added to the family file by the primary therapist.

- The primary therapist, through consultation with the supervisor, will be responsible to coordinate treatment of all family members, review and update data in the file, and coordinate other therapy received by members of the family including groups (parenting, assertiveness training etc.)
- A decision made by a primary therapist to include a co-therapist must be approved by the supervisor of the primary therapist. When a co-therapist is involved in the case, the primary therapist is responsible to meet with the other therapist at least weekly to coordinate the treatment plan, review case notes, and add new case notes to the file. These notes can be added under a separate tab in the file titled Correspondence.
- The co-therapist can be added to the case (with access to that case through CMS, as in groups, but has no responsibility for the audit. The audit responsibility rests with the primary therapist alone).
- It is the responsibility of the primary therapist to write a treatment plan that outlines each of the areas of treatment being received by each family member, rationale, and the goals of actions prescribed (including use of a co-therapist for individual therapy not conducted by the primary family therapist such as in some cases of play therapy or a separate therapist for each of two divorcing spouses).
- If one individual terminates therapy with the primary therapist (as in divorcing spouses) a termination is filed for that individual by the primary therapist and the therapist who is seeing that individual is no longer considered a co-therapist. The file becomes an individual case with no shared information. The same would be true for an adolescent client (who has reached the age of 18) and wishes to have an individual therapist.
- The primary therapist must write a referral for treatment to the new therapist for their file. This referral letter (note, memo) identifies the specific reasons for the referral and the goals for treatment the primary therapist hopes will occur while the family member(s) is/are seeing the treatment therapist.

- The primary therapist is responsible to his/her supervisor for case management and supervision. The co-therapists may consult with their supervisor on the case and consult with the primary therapist and/or supervisor if changes in treatment are needed.

Factors which may encourage working with parents and children, or parents and adolescents together include such things as:

- Child is uneasy being alone with the therapist (such as immature, shy, fearful). After trust is established the therapist may see them alone when necessary.
- Parents are able to handle their own anxiety and are able to focus on their child when appropriate.
- Attachment between the parent and child has been broken (illness, separation, divorce, death).
- Acting out is primary way the child gets attention.
- Multi-generational themes are present for child.
- Parent will not participate in any other kind of therapy.

Factors which may discourage working with parents and children together or spouses together initially until some of the individual issues are resolved include such things as:

- Parent's emotional issues are too intense and they are not able to focus on their children enough to be accessible to them during therapy.
- The parents are not healthy enough to contain information or experiences that occur during treatment requiring the children to bear the burdens of therapy for their parents.
- Parents are not able to interact with children and are unwilling to learn.
- The parent's early childhood was very dysfunctional and they are not able to move beyond their pain to engage with their children in a therapeutic manner.

- The child or adolescent needs privacy and a separate space to deal with issues of abuse or trauma.
- Either parents or children are too reactive to be together even in play.
- One or both partners report violence in the relationship which requires interviewing each spouse separately before proceeding with conjoint treatment.

In the above cases, concurrent individual therapy may be appropriate for parents and children when approved by the supervisor; however, it is important that the family unit meet together for some experiences that encourage bonding among members. It is important that all parents who have children in play therapy receive individual or couple or parental therapy concurrently with the child's individual therapy.

Prior to the conclusion of treatment, family members need to work together in family therapy including all possible members of the family. This is critical when issues of shame, attachment, security, belonging, and connection exist. The treatment may include filial therapy and/or family therapy.

Adding Clients to Case

Student Therapist Screening: For those potential clients and who later need to be added to a case, student therapists can be trained to screen for the program acceptance criteria. Scripts and checklists exist to walk the therapist through the screening criteria: suicidality, AID use; violence; legal concerns; and severity and chronicity. This screening could be done by the therapist talking with the current client about the potential family member in a live session or by phone. The conclusion that the new client passes program acceptance criteria could be documented in a case note.

Possible Complications: About 10-15% of therapy intakes are screened out currently at the time of intake. The student therapist would have to be prepared for that possibility (be able to refuse treatment, and know where to refer). Prior to using the current acceptance criteria there were up to 3 emergencies per semester requiring evaluation for hospitalization of clients. This was difficult for students, supervisors, and clients. Under the current criteria, this has been reduced to about 1 such emergency per year. Supervisors and students can keep the need for crisis intervention low by accurate screening during intake. When in doubt, the student should refer the potential client out and/or refer them to go through the formal intake interview process.

Demographics: If the new family member/partner passes screening, an electronic demographic form could be completed by the student therapist, copied and pasted and sent to Dr. Barley in CMS, and then deleted from the student's computer. The new client(s) can be added to the case immediately or the next day.

Informed Consent: Once the new client is entered into CMS, s/he can sign the informed consent at the next scheduled session on an iPad. In unplanned circumstances (someone shows up before they're in CMS), a paper copy is always acceptable.

Reducing the Need for Separate Cases:

Treatment Plans: Multiple treatment plans can currently be added in CMS to a case. If desired, treatment plans on an individual, couple, and family can all be added into one case. This would require attention to clarifying in the document who is the client for each plan.

Treatment Summaries: If desired, for clarification, more than one treatment summary can be placed in each CMS case to differentiate treatment responses by the different entities: individuals, couples, and families. Treatment summaries, case notes, and assessments are the most frequently requested documents. Writing such documents with the knowledge of how they may be requested in the future would be helpful to the clients.

Requests or Subpoenas for Records : Individuals only have access to documents that are their own (individual) records or their children's or wards' records. To release a document with multiple adult participants mentioned, all participant signatures are needed (or a valid court order), or information must be redacted (which is time consuming and error prone). This can be sorted out for closed cases by the auditor at the time of the request for the release of information or subpoena, and by the supervisor and student therapist for active cases.

Case Transfer Guidelines

Guidelines for MFT students transferring client cases from one therapist to another include (these guidelines assume you already have the permission of your supervisors to transfer the case):

- First, get permission from your client to do a transfer. Explain that you will do your best to select a new therapist who meets their needs, i.e. gender preference, age, experience level, knowledge of treatment for their particular problem, availability to complete their treatment before she/he graduates.
- Give the client at least 2-4 sessions advance notice of your need to transfer them. This will give you and the new therapist at least 3 or more sessions to meet together with the client to do the hand-off.
- Discuss with the client the pros and cons of the referral to another therapist; help them make the best decision for themselves. Address their anxiety, disappointment, sadness, sense of loss, etc. that may occur when transfers are made. Evaluate their progress to date and goals not yet met that may be addressed in therapy with the next therapist.
- Get permission from the client to let new therapist read all his/her case notes, Treatment Plan, and diagnosis based on your work with them. Reassure the client they will not have to re-tell their entire life story again to another therapist. The new therapist will join the case with much knowledge of the situation and treatment progress to date and unfinished therapeutic issues.
- You and the new therapist meet with the client at least 1-2 sessions before the switch is made; you direct the first session, with the new therapist joining in where appropriate, asking clarification questions, joining with the client and engendering hope for improvement in their condition. For the new therapist, the initial goals are joining, instilling hope, engendering confidence in the client that you are an empathetic, genuine, warm individual with skills/supervision experiences that can help them.

- The next 1-2 sessions should be directed by the new therapist, with the referring therapist providing ideas and comments as appropriate, helping the client clarify treatment progress with the new therapist, etc. The referring therapist should show support and confidence in the new therapist and reassure the client that he/she will receive good treatment from the new therapist. Reassure the client that the new therapist may consult with the referring therapist on their case to provide the best treatment.
- The new therapist should come prepared to answer all questions the client may have about their personal and academic background, theoretical lens most used in therapy, level of experience and supervision experience, etc. Be prepared to explain to the client why you agreed to take over therapy and why you see yourself as a good fit for the client and their needs/problems.
- In the same session, the referring therapist should also review the progress the client has made in therapy with them as well as outline the challenges/goals yet to accomplish with the new therapist. This should reflect a “strengths-based” approach to the client’s continued therapy.
- The new therapist may have to re-write a new treatment plan based on all that is learned in these hand-off sessions. This, of course, is co-developed with the client and they agree to the treatment plan, duration, their role, the therapist’s role, etc.

Transferring a Case: In order to transfer a case in CMS, the following steps must be carried out:

- You must have talked to the therapist you are transferring the client to and let the client know of the potential transfer
- You must be updated on all of your case notes prior to requesting the transfer
- Create a message in CMS that is cc’d to all of the following: your current supervisor, the new therapist, the new therapist's supervisor, and Dr. Barnes. In the message, state the following:

- The case number of the case being transferred
- Why the case is being transferred (e.g. request for new therapist, therapist graduating etc.)
- A request for the time when you'd like the transfer to occur
- Dr. Barnes will have both therapists on the case while they are doing co-therapy and then take the previous therapist off at the appropriate and requested time.

Terminating a Case

Client case terminations should be completed in a timely manner. On those occasions when clients do not follow through with appointments, therapist should make every effort to contact the client to either set up a new appointment or close the file if the client does not intend on returning. The file should not be kept open without documentation of some type of client contact for more than two weeks. Students should destroy unnecessary documents that have client names appearing on them.

Use of Cell Phones

The use of your personal cell phones, Google voice, and/or other contact methods outside the interns office phone is at the discretion of each student in consultation with their practicum supervisor. It is important to be aware that unencrypted emails and texts can be relatively easily accessed by unauthorized people and hence can compromise the privacy and confidentiality of therapist-client communication. State law and professional/ethical standards vary regarding cell phone use as it relates to therapy. Students are responsible to make sure they communicate in a legal and ethical ways with clients. In general, as a program, we discourage cell phone use with clients. However, if you choose to use your personal cell phone the voice mail message must include a statement regarding emergencies.

Example: "You have reached the voice mail of John Doe. If this is an emergency or crisis situation immediately hang up and dial 911, your local crisis line or go to the nearest emergency room."

It is also good to establish boundaries around business hours you will return and answer calls and to only use texting in regards to scheduling.

Example: "Please remember calls received after 3 p.m. on Friday will not be returned until Monday morning."

Please ask each supervisor if they have any additional requirements. BYU MFT is not liable for any associated cost for using personal cell phone. Please do not use texts, email, voice mail, or faxes for emergencies. See also Appendix J of this handbook for a Google Voice client agreement.

Ethical Issues with Texting Clients:

Beneficence and Non-maleficence: strive to benefit those with whom they work and take care to do no harm . . . seek to safeguard the welfare and rights of those with whom they interact professionally and other affected persons

Fidelity and Responsibility: uphold professional standards of conduct, clarify their professional roles and obligations, accept appropriate responsibility for their behavior, and seek to manage conflicts of interest that could lead to exploitation or harm.

Integrity: strive to keep their promises and to avoid unwise or unclear commitments

Respect for People's Rights and Dignity: respect the dignity and worth of all people, and the rights of individuals to privacy, confidentiality, and self-determination.

Informed Consent: Client has to be told that there are risks to texting and give consent. Clarity on the appropriate use of texting (not for emergencies or clinical info). Clients may easily give consent to use texting, not being aware that inadvertent revelation of their participation in therapy to others may have, repercussions in relationships, future job possibilities (government agencies, military, security clearance), and insurance, and the fact that once information is in cyber space, they lose control of the information.

Security: discover-ability of PHI including the fact that the client is receiving therapy services (appointment time, phone number) by unauthorized persons due to the technology. Electronic information can be accidentally or purposefully re-sent quickly anywhere. Also consider the consequences of loss, theft, and re-sale or recycle of the mobile device. One of the most common concerns raised to APAIT is: “My mobile device has been lost and it has client information on it.”

Confidentiality: service providers may reveal things in the content of the message that the client doesn’t want revealed, including the fact that someone is receiving mental health services. Need to prevent accidental release of info to others (wrong autofill email or phone number).

The fact that a text was sent would need to be logged in the contact log of the client. All other correspondence is part of the legal record, especially when deemed “clinically relevant.” This would have to include texts that drift into clinical topics.

Standard of Care and Boundary and Limit Setting for the Appropriate Use of the Technology: With access to open texting, some clients may text for emergency communication and may mention clinical issues in spite of instruction to do otherwise. Open texting can imply 24/7 availability of therapist. Would need to clarify with the client on the response time of therapists to texts and times when therapists will not respond to texts (after hours, during school breaks). There are some clients for whom texting would be inappropriate (minors, intellectually disabled, emotionally immature, personality disordered, dependent).

Authentication of the Clients’ Identity.

Potential for Miscommunication: Need to clarify differences in communication between face-to-face and texting (to reduce miscommunication and misunderstanding due to lack of visual cues).

Procedure: The receptionists get permission from the client to receive texts and to leave voice messages at the initial phone call to set up the intake appointment. A script could include something like: “Voice messages and texting are insecure ways of communicating and could allow others to know that you are seeking mental health services. Would you give us permission to leave voice messages on your phone? Would you like to receive a text message on your phone to facilitate setting an appointment?” [if the client agrees, continue] “Such a text message would alert you that you are about to receive a phone call and would give you the options to choose to either receive the call at that time or to call into the Clinic to give us times when you would be available to receive a call. Do you have any questions about this?”

These instructions would be repeated at intake with encouraging the client to answer phone calls from the Clinic number 801-422-7759.

Instructions for texting clients or using the Clinic phone number:

Calling:

- Call 801-317-8835 in order to call the client so that the Clinic’s phone number (801-422-7759) will show on the client’s caller ID instead of “blocked” or “unknown.”
- You will be prompted to enter the client’s phone number. You will then be forwarded to the client. Your personal number will be hidden from the Client. Caller ID will display the Clinic’s number (801-422-7759). The Client’s number will not be saved in your phone.

Texting:

- If you would like to text the client to let them that you will be calling in the next 30 minutes and to get their permission to call, text the client’s number to 801-317-8835. This will improve the probability that the client will answer your call.
- You will receive a text: “[client’s number] will be sent a message informing them that you would like to call them to set up an appointment.”
- The client will receive a text: “Hello, this is in regards to services you recently requested. You gave us permission to text you to schedule services. Please respond YES or NO whether you will be available in the next 30 minutes to receive a call.”
- If the client responds “YES,” you will receive a message: “[client number] will be available to receive your call for the next 30 minutes.” You can then call the client using the procedure above.

- If the client responds “NO,” the client will receive the following text: “Please call 801-422-7759 and leave a message about when would be a good time to call you to schedule services.” You will also receive a text saying, “[client number] will NOT be available to receive your call for the next 30 minutes.”
- If the client attempts to text back in free form to the Clinic number, they will receive the message: “This is an unmanned phone number. Please call 801-422-7759 to leave a message. If this is an emergency, please call 911 or call the Crisis Line at (801) 691-5433.”

Chapter 4: Master's Degree Overview

The Marriage and Family Therapy Master of Science (MS) degree program is accredited by the Commission on Accreditation for Marriage and Family Therapy Education (COAMFTE) of the American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy (AAMFT).

The MFT program includes 62 credit hours and requires full-time study over two years (24 months). As the MS program is a full two-year program, students are expected to attend classes and see clients in the clinic all the way through the Summer term in their second year. Students are discouraged from maintaining a full-time job while in the program, due to the rigors associated with the program. Included in this program is the expectation that students will write a thesis, maintain a full course load and earn at least 500 contact hours with individuals, couples, and families with at least half of these hours being with relationships in the therapy room. Students will earn therapy contact hours on-site at the Comprehensive Clinic with some opportunity for off-site placement. The clinic is open year-round to accommodate individuals, couples, and families. Students must adjust their schedules accordingly. Students should graduate in August of their second year

Ten full-time faculty have primary instructional responsibility for the graduate program with support from the School of Family Life faculty. Major courses and clinical practica are conducted in the Comprehensive Clinic Building (TLRB) which houses graduate programs in clinical psychology, language disorders, audiology, and social work. Additional practicum experience is available in various inpatient and outpatient medical and mental health facilities in the community.

Students are notified via university email when it is time to register for classes for the upcoming semester. This is an excellent time to discuss with a student's advisory chair the upcoming class schedule, clinical case loads, and other opportunities which may be available. MS students see clients in the clinic for two full years. The involvement in the Comprehensive Clinic during second Spring/Summer helps prepare you clinically for employment and is essential to the functioning of the clinic.

Academic and Coursework Information

To assist students in meeting curriculum requirements and to facilitate progress in the program, the following are presented on subsequent pages:

- A Program of Study Form, which may be pasted from the electronic version of this handbook or downloaded from the Graduate Studies website: gradstudies.byu.edu/file/adv-form-3
- A timeline suggesting when important tasks and events should be considered and/or completed
- For information regarding curriculum requirements for the Master's Degree please see the website at mft.byu.edu/Pages/masters-program.

It is recommended that each student reviews each of these pages with his/her advisory chair and discuss any questions the student or advisory chair may have with regards to the student's plans and progress. It should be noted that course curriculum (for both programs) and the associated teaching/learning practices used in courses are regularly evaluated and updated (as needed). This review/discussion process occurs in the context of regular MFT faculty retreats (Spring and Fall) and is an opportunity for the faculty to review coursework for relevance to educational outcomes and student/professional needs. As outlined above (Student Roles in Program Governance), students contribute to this process through formal course/instructor evaluations and other feedback shared through student representatives and in cohort meetings with the program director and/or clinical director. As a function of this regular review process, there may be some changes to program coursework (required/elective).

Prior to Starting the Program

Prior to coming to the MFT program in the fall, we need you to complete this free online statistics course: udacity.com/course/intro-to-statistics--st101. We estimate it takes about a month to complete doing a few hours each week. Because of this, we'd like you to do this course between July and August so everything is still a bit fresh when you begin.

Please, talk with your graduate advisor about the pace in which you complete this and ask for their feedback. Most of your advisors will have you begin research work immediately after you come in the fall. We expect you to score at least 80% on each unit. Please, take a screenshot as you complete each unit and send the score to mftptsec@byu.edu. A screenshot of your final score will be due your first day of class with Dr. Lee Johnson.

Selecting a Track: Thesis vs. Non-Thesis

During your first semester in the program, you will select to complete either the research track or the clinical track. Your choice should be made in close consultation with your advisor, considering your individual professional goals. Those selecting the research track will complete a thesis before graduating, including 6 hours of MFT 699R, Master's thesis. Those selecting the clinical track will complete a clinical presentation before graduating, including 6 hours of MFT 698R, Master's project. All other coursework is the same for both tracks. You will declare your track as part of your Program of Study

(ADV₃) which is due the end of January during your first year in the program. You may change your track, but only up to the end of your first Winter Semester. In order to change your track, you will need to submit an ADV_{3b} (gradstudies.byu.edu/file/adv-form-3b) to Graduate Studies.

Graduation Requirements

The requirements of the program are a minimum of 62 credit hours. We strongly encourage and expect you to participate in the Summer Series during the Spring/Summer Term of your 1st or 2nd year. The Summer Series is excellent preparation for employment and your future. The requirements for graduation are as follows:

Forming Your Graduate Committee

① As a master's student, how do I form my graduate committee?

The MFT program and all graduate programs at BYU use a committee system to carry out graduate education. There is a separate graduate committee for each student, and the role of the committee is to advise, guide and mentor each student and to provide feedback throughout the student's program.

The committee also evaluates the thesis, dissertation, or clinical project.

A master's committee consists of three faculty members. If you have a minor outside of Marriage and Family Therapy, a member of the graduate faculty in that department should be on your committee. All of the members of the committee must be graduate faculty at BYU. Aside from the advisory chair, who is automatically a chair of a student's committee, research track MS students are responsible for asking other faculty to serve on their committee. There are a variety of reasons that faculty may, on occasion, not be able to accommodate requests to serve on your committee. They may have a full load of committee assignments, be anticipating a leave, or be planning to emphasize other aspects of their professional career. One important factor students should consider in setting up their committee is working with faculty who have compatible scholarly interests. MS students completing the clinical track will also have a three member committee consisting of the student's advisor and two faculty members selected by the MFT faculty who will serve as the clinical presentation committee for that cohort. Students will be informed which two faculty members will serve before the Program of Study Forms are due.

Guidelines for selecting members of a thesis or dissertation committee include:

- Choose people with whom your advisory chair is comfortable working.
- Choose people with whom you think you will be comfortable working.
- Look for those who will give you the best advice related to your research and writing.
- Select a balanced committee in terms of experience, newness, gender, editorial type, etc.

Students occasionally wish to change the advisory chair of their graduate committee. This can be done if they obtain agreement with a new faculty member to serve as advisory chair and the consent of the MFT program chair. When students are thinking about changing the advisory chair of their graduate committee, they may want to consider the following:

- Can a different person help you get through your program in an expedient manner? Does he/she get things done in a timely manner? Does he/she, have the time or willing to take the time with you that you need and not have too many advisees already (no more than 3-4 students he/she is chairing and few other students planning to finish the same semester as you)?

- Can this person help you in your post-degree pursuit of a job or further education? Does he/she have good professional connections, write good reference letters, see her/his job as helping post degree and not just during the degree program?
- Is this person doing research you can participate in? Can you do a thesis using some of his or her data? Is the faculty member willing to help you with your own research idea even if this is not his/her area of expertise or interest?

Students may also change committee members by securing the consent of the faculty they would like to have on their committee. Although these changes are generally not a problem for faculty members, decisions about the changes should be done in consultation with your advisor. When making the change, the student should inform committee members who are being taken off of their committee. Some of the reasons it may become desirable to change an advisory chair or members are:

- If students become interested in a new area of scholarship or a research project, and would find it desirable to work with different faculty members;
- When students find that their current advisory chair or members are not meeting their needs;
- When students wish to make a substantial change in anticipated professional goals; and
- When a faculty member's leave or other duties would interfere with continuing to serving on the committee.

As a master's student, the general rule should be that you attach yourself to your advisor's research and write a thesis from his/her research data. Only in the rarest of cases should you attempt to do your own independent research because of the extended time it takes to collect your own data. However, if you are planning an academic career in a research university, the dissertation should be the first of many papers you will try to get published in the content area of your dissertation. In fact, what you do for your dissertation may be your main area of interest for the early years of your professional career. So choose it carefully and choose something you may be interested in staying with for at least 3-5 years. Some doctoral students take extended time to collect their own data. Your decision should be discussed with your advisory chair before planning your dissertation project.

Program of Study

The Program of Study is a carefully considered plan that each student makes about how to fulfill degree requirements. The forms include the list of courses necessary for graduation as dictated by program requirements and the student's own professional development goals. Master's students will follow a standard listing of courses as there is very little variability in program requirements. Students should consult with their advisory chair for suggestion on the development of their Program of Study.

It is required that students submit a completed Program of Study (available on the Graduate Studies website: gradstudies.byu.edu/page/advisement-forms) by the end of January during their first year in the program. This cannot, of course, be completed until the student learns enough about the faculty to decide whom to ask to serve on their committee. The initial Program of Study document is not a final, binding contract, and it is quite easy to modify as circumstances change.

In consultation with a student's advisory chair, each student should organize their committee no later than the end of January in the first year in the program. Once a completed Program of Study Form has been downloaded and printed out, students will have it signed by his/her committee members and then should submit the completed Program of Study Form to the SFL Graduate Program Manager (Terri Robertson: 801-422-2060 or terri_robertson@byu.edu).

Please note that course curriculum and the associated teaching/learning practices used in courses are regularly evaluated and updated (as needed). This review/discussion process occurs in the context of regular MFT faculty retreats (Spring and Fall) and is an opportunity for the faculty to review coursework for relevance to educational outcomes and student/professional needs. As outlined above (student roles in program governance), students contribute to this process through formal course/instructor evaluations and other feedback shared through student representatives and in cohort meetings with the program director and/or clinical director. As a function of this regular review process, there may be some changes to program coursework (required/elective).

Instructions to Complete the Form

① As a master's student, when is my Program of Study due?

The Program of Study is due before the end of January in your first year in the program. It is your responsibility to complete the Program of Study form with the assistance of your advisor.

Access the form on the Graduate Studies website (gradstudies.byu.edu) or in this handbook.

The following information is provided for instances in which a student needs more space for additional electives or if a student has taken previous classes which have been approved by his/her advisory chair for credit towards the master degree.

Using the abbreviations below, identify the requirement type (in the Req. type column) that each course fills:

- PRQ for prerequisite courses
- MAJ for major courses
- MIN for minor courses (but only if you have declared a minor)
- ELC for elective courses
- THS for thesis courses
- PRJ for project course

Using the abbreviations below (in the Pre-program type column), identify those pre-program courses you plan to count as part of your master degree (the total of transfer [TRN], senior [SEN], and non-degree [NDG] credit cannot exceed 10 hours).

- TRN for any transfer courses from other schools that will apply to the BYU master degree
- SEN for any courses you took before you received your bachelor's degree and which you wish to count as part of your master degree. Check with your undergraduate advisement center to be certain there is not double application credit.
- NDG for any courses you took after you receive your bachelor's degree but before you were admitted to your master's program

Obtain signatures of the faculty who will serve as your advisory committee. If you have received approval to declare a minor, one of the committee members must be from the minor department.

After completing the form and obtaining the required signatures, take the form to SFL Graduate Program Manager so she can officially record your Program of Study with Graduate Studies. When the Program of Study is approved and recorded, you will receive a verifying progress report.

Clinical Experience and Practicum Information

Most clinical practica is conducted in the Comprehensive Clinic Building (TLRB). Specific information outlining the policies and procedures of the Comprehensive Clinic as well as clinical practica are reviewed in Chapter 3. In the MFT 655R Beginning Practicum course (first semester), students learn the basic therapy attitudes and skills required by the program before beginning clinical work with clients in a practicum setting.

Specifically, students will learn how to:

- Gather information to assess and determine the clients' complaints and goals
- Use that information to formulate treatment plans.
- Carry out the planned treatment
- Evaluate treatment delivery and treatment impact
- Terminate treatment

Student readiness to see clinical cases is determined by meeting the following requirements:

- Observe 25 hours of couple and family therapy and submit log of observation to supervisor
- Pass case conceptualization paper of an ongoing case they have observed
- In beginning practicum, pass the exam on ethical principals
- Pass exam on comprehensive clinic procedures in beginning practicum
- Successfully demonstrate role played skills to supervisor

The evaluation criteria for the aforementioned requirements and the Log of Observation Hours Form (Appendix C) are included. Most students achieve readiness to see clinical cases by the middle of the first semester and are involved in direct clinical work with individuals, couples, and families. Direct client contact is defined as face-to-face (therapist and client) therapeutic intervention. Students usually see clients for approximately 15 hours per week. Students will continue to see clients for the balance of the student's academic program until a minimum of 500 hours (at least 251 must be relational) of direct client contact is accrued

An accounting of the number of therapy hours which have been provided is also due at the end of each semester. Students should keep track of the minutes of each therapy session over the course of a semester or term. At the end of the semester or term, they should total the minutes and divide by 50 (a 50 minute hour) to calculate the number of hours they have spent doing therapy. This number must then be reported to the student's supervisor on the appropriate form and then submitted to the MFT part-time secretary to be recorded. Student should consult with their supervisor and/or advisory chair for instruction on how to complete this form.

In order to graduate, you need at least 500 hours of direct face-to-face therapy hours (50 minute hours). A minimum of 251 hours of the 500 total hours must be relational hours (families, couples, etc). Up to 100 of the 500 hours can be alternative hours, which include team, psycho education, group, and so forth. Your 25 beginning practicum observational hours count in the 100 alternative hours. You as well need 100 hours of direct, face-to-face supervision for graduation.

At the conclusion of each semester, students and their practicum supervisors evaluate the student's progress with reference to the student Clinical Competence Evaluation Form. Students also evaluate the effectiveness of the supervision provided by the supervisor. Evaluation forms are placed in the student's file at the end of each practicum experience so they can assess the quality of their supervision experiences. In order to protect student confidentiality, all student feedback is compiled, typed up by the part-time secretaries, and only shared with the supervisor in aggregate form. Examples of these forms are located in Appendix D.

Chapter 5: Doctoral Overview

The information presented here regarding the doctoral program requirements is based on the assumption that the student's Master's degree was obtained from a COAMFTE accredited MS program.

Brigham Young University offers the Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) with a major in Marriage and Family Therapy. Administratively this degree is housed in the School of Family Life. The doctoral degree program is accredited by the Commission on Accreditation for Marriage and Family Therapy Education (COAMFTE) of the American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy. Ten full-time faculty have primary instructional responsibility for the graduate program with support from the Marriage Family and Human Development faculty. Major courses and clinical practica are conducted in the Comprehensive Clinic within the Taylor Building (TLRB) which also houses the entire marriage and family therapy program, the graduate programs in clinical psychology, speech and language disorders, audiology, and social work. Additional practicum experience is also available in various inpatient and outpatient medical and mental health facilities in the community.

Students are encouraged to meet regularly with their advisory chair to review progress in academic and clinical requirements. Students are notified via university email when it is time to register for classes for the upcoming semester. This is an excellent time to discuss with a student's advisory chair the upcoming class schedule, clinical caseloads, and other opportunities which may be available.

Academic and Coursework Information

To assist students in meeting curriculum requirements and to facilitate progress in the program, the following are presented on subsequent pages:

- Doctoral Program Course Sequencing: required courses, electives, etc
- Help with completing the Program of Study
- Instructions for filling out the form if a student chooses not to download a copy from the website
- A timeline suggesting when important tasks and events should be considered and/or completed

For additional information regarding the curriculum requirements for the Doctoral Degree please see the MFT website at mft.byu.edu/Pages/doctoral-program.

It is recommended that each student read and understand the information presented in this handbook and particularly within this chapter. Review these pages with your advisory chair and use that opportunity to discuss any questions you or your advisory chair may have with regards to the your plans and progress.

It should be noted that course curriculum (for both programs) and the associated teaching/learning practices used in courses are regularly evaluated and updated as needed and may happen without prior notice to each student.

The program updates occur throughout the year during weekly faculty meetings. There are semi-annual faculty meetings where program governance is exclusively reviewed: Spring and Fall.

Program updates are made as a result of feedback from all communities of interest including students. Feedback from students is obtained from weekly student input at faculty meetings through the student representatives, formal and informal comments obtained through surveys, course and instructor evaluations, feedback sessions, meetings with the program and/or clinical director, and more. To understand the students' role in program feedback, review the section of this handbook titled "Student Roles in Program Governance."

As a result of this regular review process, there are periodic changes to program coursework (required/elective). The most updated information can be obtained from the program director.

MFHD 706 or MFHD 695R	3	Advanced Statistical Methods/Multi-level Modeling (taught every winter) or Longitudinal Analysis (taught alternating years)

Important note about practicum: Ph.D. students are required to take a total of 18 credits of clinical practicum (MFT 655R/755R) while in the program. Students are required to accrue at least 200 hours at the BYU Comprehensive Clinic before they can work or intern off-site. While obtaining the initial 200 hours, students must be enrolled in MFT 655R Practicum, which is comprised of both group and individual supervision. After students accrue 200 hours, they may enroll in the MFT 755R practicum, which only involves group supervision. Students must complete a total of 18 credit hours of practicum, which includes both 655R and 755R.

First Year: Spring/Summer

Courses	Credits	Name of Course
MFT 799R	3	Doctoral Dissertation (both spring and summer term)
MFT 655R/755R	3	Practicum in MFT/Advanced Practicum in MFT (both spring and summer term)
MFT 760R	1	Supervision of Supervision (both spring and summer term, if you took MFT 750 in winter of your 1 st year)

Important note about clinical hours: During the Ph.D. program, students are expected to complete 500 total face-to-face clinical hours (with at least 251 of those hours being relational) and at least 100 additional hours of clinical supervision. All graduating Ph.D. students are expected to have a total of 1,000 face-to-face clinical hours (when including the hours earned during their Master's degree) under the direction of an approved Supervisor. After completing the 18 credit hours in practicum, students are required to take practicum only if they continue to see clients in the clinic or if they are working off-site and using a BYU faculty member as a supervisor. Individual circumstances that merit exceptions (e.g., already licensed, MS degree from non-accredited program or MS degree from program that required fewer than 500 hours) will be discussed with the chair and approved by the faculty.

Potential problems with full-time status: In their third and fourth years of the program students, typically enroll in few credits in order to devote time to their dissertation and internship requirements. Taking fewer credits may mean the student's official status is half-time or less. This status designation often affects student loans and interest can begin to accumulate. Students can fill out a petition to request full-time status even though they are taking fewer than full-time credit hours if their school workload is equivalent to full-time. See ADV Form2a on the BYU Graduate Studies website for requirements to obtain full-time status (<https://gradstudies.byu.edu/page/advisement-forms>).

Forming your Graduate Committee

① As a doctoral student, how will I form my graduate committee?

The MFT program and all graduate programs at BYU use a committee system to carry out graduate education. There is a separate graduate committee for each student, and the role of the committee is to advise, guide and mentor each student and to provide feedback throughout the student's program. The committee also evaluates the thesis, dissertation, or clinical project.

A Ph.D. committee consists of five members and is chaired by the student's advisory chair. Students are responsible for securing the four other faculty members to complete their committee. All members of the committee must be graduate faculty at BYU. You should prioritize faculty who have compatible scholarly interests. If you have a minor outside of Marriage and Family Therapy, a member of the graduate faculty in that department should be on your committee.

Guidelines for selecting members of a thesis or dissertation committee include:

- Choose people with whom your advisory chair is comfortable working
- Choose people with whom you think you will be comfortable working.
- Look for those who will give you the best advice related to your research and writing.
- Select a balanced committee in terms of experience, newness, gender, editorial type, etc.

There are a variety of reasons that faculty may, on occasion, not be able to accommodate your request to serve on the committee. They may have a full load of committee assignments, be anticipating a leave, or be planning to emphasize other aspects of their professional career.

Students occasionally wish to change the advisory chair of their graduate committee. This can be done if the student obtains agreement with a new faculty member to serve as advisory chair and the consent of the MFT program chair. When students are thinking about changing the advisory chair of their graduate committee, they may want to consider the following:

- Can a different person help you get through your program in an expedient manner? Does he/she get things done in a timely manner? Does he/she, have the time or is he/she willing to take the time with you that you need and not have too many advisees already (no more than 3-4 students), and few other students planning to finish the same semester as you?
- Can this person help you in your post-degree pursuit of a job or further education? Does he/she have good professional connections, write good reference letters, see her/his job as helping after and not just during the degree program?

- Is this person doing research you can participate in? Can you do a thesis using some of his or her data? Is the faculty member willing to help you with your own research idea even if this is not his/her area of expertise or interest?

Students may also change committee members by securing the consent of the faculty they would like to have on their committee. Some of the reasons it may become desirable to change an advisory chair or members are:

- If students become interested in a new area of scholarship or a research project, and would find it desirable to work with different faculty members
- When students find that their current advisory chair or members are not meeting their needs
- When students wish to make a substantial change in anticipated professional goals
- When a faculty member's leave or other duties would interfere with serving on the committee

Although these changes are generally not a problem for faculty members, decisions about the changes should be done in consultation with your advisor. When making the change, the student should inform committee members who are being taken off of their committee.

As a Ph.D. student, it is expected that you will attach yourself to your advisor's research and write a thesis from his/her research data. It is rare that a student would attempt to do independent research. The amount of time required to conduct your own research makes this prohibitively time intensive.

If you are planning to an academic career in a research university, your dissertation should be the first of many papers you will prepare for publication in this content area. In fact, the area of study chosen for your dissertation may be your main area of study for the early years of your professional career. Choose your subject matter carefully and choose something you may be interested in staying with for at least 3-5 years.

Your research area decision should be discussed with your advisory chair before planning your dissertation project.

Program of Study

The Program of Study is a carefully considered plan that each student makes about how to fulfill degree requirements. The forms include the list of courses necessary for graduation as dictated by program requirements and the student's own professional development goals. Doctoral students will want to determine the research classes and electives that most closely align with their interests and goals. Students should consult with their advisory chair for suggestion on the development of their Program of Study.

It is important for students to complete a Program of Study (available on the Graduate Studies website: gradstudies.byu.edu/page/advisement-forms) within the first year of the program. This cannot, of course, be completed until the student learns enough about the faculty to decide whom to ask to serve on their committee, so students do not need to rush to get this done. At the same time, the initial Program of Study document is not a final, binding contract, and it is quite easy to modify as circumstances change.

In consultation with a student's advisory chair, each student should organize their committee no later than the end of the first year in the program. Once a completed Program of Study Form has been downloaded and printed out, students will have it signed by his/her committee members and then should submit the completed Program of Study Form to the SFL Graduate Program Manager (Terri Robertson: 801-422-2060 or terri_robertson@byu.edu).

It should be noted that course curriculum and the associated teaching/learning practices used in courses are regularly evaluated and updated (as needed). This review/discussion process occurs in the context of regular MFT faculty retreats (Spring and Fall) and is an opportunity for the faculty to review coursework for relevance to educational outcomes and student/professional needs. As outlined above (student roles in program governance), students contribute to this process through formal course/instructor evaluations and other feedback shared through student representatives and in cohort meetings with the program director and/or clinical director. As a function of this regular review process, there may be some changes to program coursework (required/elective).

Instructions for Completing Program of Study Form

① As a doctoral student, when is my Program of Study due?

It is your responsibility to complete your Program of Study with your advisor. This must be done before the end of January of your first year in the program.

To begin, go to the Graduate Studies website and download the Program of Study Form.

Complete the requested information and review the classes listed. Blank lines are provided to enter research class choices and elective classes.

A minor must be approved by both the major and the minor departments.

The following information is provided for instances in which a student needs more space for additional electives or if a student has taken previous classes which have been approved by his/her advisory chair for credit towards the master degree.

Download the form (gradstudies.byu.edu/page/advisement-forms) from the Graduate Studies website or make a copy of the form provided on the next page of this handbook.

Using the following abbreviations, identify the requirement type (in the "Req't Type" column) that each course fills:

- PRQ for prerequisite courses
- MAJ for major courses
- MIN for minor courses (but only if you have declared a minor)
- ELC for elective courses
- THS for thesis courses
- PRJ for project course

Using the abbreviations below (in the Pre-program type column), identify those pre-program courses you plan to count as part of your master degree (the total of transfer [TRN], senior [SEN], and non-degree [NDG] credit cannot exceed 10 hours).

- TRN for any transfer courses from other schools that will apply to the BYU master degree
- SEN for any courses you took before you received your bachelor's degree and which you wish to count as part of your master degree. Check with your undergraduate advisement center to be certain there is not double application credit.
- NDG for any courses you took after you receive your bachelor's degree but before you were admitted to your master's program

Obtain signatures of the faculty who will serve as your advisory committee. If you have received approval to declare a minor, one of the committee members must be from the minor department.

After completing the Program of Study Form, give it to your department for approval and computer entry. When the Program of Study is approved, you will receive a verifying progress report.

Clinical Experience and Practicum Information

An accounting of the number of therapy hours which have been provided is due at the end of each semester. Students should keep track of the minutes of each therapy session over the course of a semester or term. At the end of the semester or term, they should total the minutes and divide by 50 (a 50 minute hour) to calculate the number of hours they have spent doing therapy. This number must then be reported to the student's supervisor on the appropriate form and then submitted to the MFT part-time secretary to be recorded. Students should consult with their supervisor and/or advisory chair for instruction on how to complete this form.

To order to graduate, students need to complete 500 hours of direct face-to-face therapy hours (50 minute hours) and 100 hours of clinical supervision. At least 200 hours (of the 500 total) must be completed at the BYU Comprehensive clinic, under practicum supervision. A minimum of 251 hours of the 500 must be relational hours (families, couples, etc). Up to 100 of the 500 hours can be alternative hours, which include team, psycho education, group etc.

At the conclusion of each semester, students and their practicum supervisors evaluate the student's progress with reference to the student Clinical Competence Evaluation Form. Students also evaluate the effectiveness of the supervision provided by the supervisor. Evaluation forms are placed in the student's file at the end of each practicum experience so they can assess the quality of their supervision experiences. In order to protect student confidentiality, all student feedback is compiled, typed up by the part-time secretaries, and only shared with the supervisor in aggregate form. Examples of these forms are located in Appendix D.

Doctoral Portfolio Guidelines

① What is the doctoral portfolio?

As faculty in the Marriage and Family Therapy program, we believe that a doctor of philosophy degree (Ph.D.) requires the student to demonstrate scholarly competence, engage in self-directed inquiry, and demonstrate the ability to conduct and report research. We therefore require a comprehensive examination where students are able to demonstrate their ability to integrate and synthesize ideas learned from program coursework.

A set of procedures and standards have been set up to evaluate student proficiency in the areas of theory development, teaching/supervision, and research. Scholarship can be demonstrated through accomplishments in publishing and presenting research, teaching, and outreach. Additionally, Marriage and Family Therapy is a clinical degree which implies that doctoral candidates are outstanding clinicians with both clinical skills and expertise in the art and science of marriage and family therapy.

As a method of determining that students have demonstrated competence (and hopefully, excellence) in their chosen discipline, it has been determined that a portfolio of specific papers, presentations and other accomplishments will be required for students. This portfolio serves as a partial fulfillment for the doctoral degree in Marriage and Family Therapy and will constitute the Comprehensive Examination. A complete copy of the portfolio will be retained in the MFT office for review.

Expected accomplishments and documentation requirements are outlined below. This portfolio will be available for students to send to potential employers or other interested individuals as requested. The evaluations and grades connected to these materials will not be available in the portfolio but will be included in the students' permanent file and be used in the review process. Timely progress in meeting these benchmarks will be part of the evaluation process for Fall and Winter Semester student reviews.

*A PDF version of this document can be obtained from the MFT secretaries.

If choosing option #2 for teaching and outreach, the 753 class will only provide one option for teaching in the community, students must find their own second option and clear it with major professor.

The MFT doctoral portfolio checklist (next page) must be signed and submitted to the MFT office. Any exceptions to this policy require the consent of both the MFT faculty and the student's supervisory committee.

Professional Development Internship Requirements

The Professional Development Internship should offer doctoral students the opportunity to pursue a range of activities which will facilitate the accomplishment of individually determined goals for professional development. The Professional Development Internship will be integrated over the course of the doctoral program and will require successful completion of specific learning outcomes and experiences reflected in a Professional Development Plan completed by each doctoral student. While internship experiences may occur primarily during the third year of the program, activities related to the internship may begin earlier. In other words, internship activities may run concurrently while the student is completing the course work requirements.

The Doctoral Portfolio identifies specific required student outcomes including presentations, teaching, and research. The Professional Development Internship Plan will set forth additional individually determined goals each doctoral student identifies as important to their professional development.

The student and her/his advisory chair should meet and review the student's interests and needs to be accomplished through the professional development internship. Goals set by each student and approved by their chair determine the type of experiences for the internship. Most doctoral students will work in settings where they will be required to be competent in a number of areas. For the Professional Development Internship, doctoral students will be required to demonstrate their competence in at least three areas (see below for recommended areas).

Internship Support/Grants: Current undergraduate and graduate students who are declared majors in a program in the College of Family, Home, and Social Sciences may apply for an internship grant. The grants are funded through The Marjorie Pay Hinckley Endowed Chair in Social Work and the Social Sciences and The Mary Lou Fulton Chair in the College of Family, Home and Social Sciences. Individual grants up to $1,600 are available each academic semester (Fall, Winter, and Spring/Summer). These are competitive awards based on financial need, the quality of the internship, and the degree to which the internship helps support the applicant's academic and career goals. Applicants must be in good academic and Honor Code standing with the university at the time of application to be considered for a grant. Students who already have been funded for a semester from the Fulton or Hinckley chairs may apply for a grant in subsequent semesters. However, the evaluation process will take into account any previous awards and second awards will likely be reduced, if awarded at all. Please visit fhssinternshipgrants.byu.edu for more information. Application deadlines as follows:

Fall Semester: July 15 by Midnight

Winter Semester: November 15 by Midnight

Spring/Summer Semester: March 15 by Midnight

Professional Development Internship

Guidelines: The student and advisor will complete the Professional Development Internship Plan and Liability Agreement. The proposal must be approved by the student's advisor, signed by the clinical director and filed with the MFT graduate program manager.

- The plan must identify:
- Three targeted areas of professional competency;
- The activities intended to achieve said competencies;
- How outcomes for the specified competencies will be measured?

Who will supervise and evaluate the work? Students will enroll in the MFT 770R (Professional Development Internship for 1 credit for a total of 3 credits. The grade for MFT 770R will be a T grade until all requirements in the plan are completed when the grade will change to a letter grade.

There must be an agreement signed between the Clinical Director and any site where the internship activities will occur. Regular feedback from the supervisor(s) at the internship to the Clinical Director is required, as is feedback from the student regarding the internship experiences. Interviews and/or supervision will take place in personal visits, by telephone or over the Internet (e.g., SKYPE or another system) as needed.

Students will post evidence of successful completion of Professional Development Internship Plan in their Ph.D. portfolio file in the MFT Graduate Office. It is the student's responsibility to obtain the supervisor/mentor's evaluation each semester and to meet with their advisory chair to review progress

Expected Professional Development Internship Outcomes: MFT Ph.D. students will demonstrate competence in at least three of the following:

- Research and Scholarly Activity: Application of qualitative or quantitative research and writing skills to produce publications beyond the requirement for the portfolio.
- Program Development and Evaluation: Apply principles from program development course in a supervised work setting. The program needs to be fully prepared for implementation and evaluation. Then conduct planned evaluation of the program.
- MFT Licensure: Complete all requirements to become a professionally licensed marriage and family therapist.
- Specialized Clinical Expertise: Develop expertise in working with a particular clinical population or with a particular treatment approach under an AAMFT approved supervisor or equivalent.

- Teaching: Take major responsibility for teaching undergraduate or graduate students in courses related to the field of Marriage and Family Therapy. Document teaching responsibilities, student and supervisor's evaluation of teaching excellence
- Administration: Assume oversight of a clinical program or service component in a supervised work setting. Student must document successful completion of job description through a supervisor's evaluation and in their own written report.
- MFT Supervision: Supervise trainees and receive supervision mentoring to become an AAMFT approved supervisor. Completion of requirements to become an AAMFT supervisor is one way of documenting the outcome.
- Grant Writing: Take major responsibility for writing a service delivery grant in a supervised work setting. Student must post the final application.
- Other: details to be worked out and approved with one's advisor.

Chapter 6: Policies and Procedures

Policies Regarding Conduct

BYU Honor Code

Brigham Young University exists to provide an education in an atmosphere consistent with the ideals and principles of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. That atmosphere is created and preserved through commitment to conduct that reflects those ideals and principles. Members of the faculty, administration, staff, and student body at BYU are selected and retained from among those who voluntarily live the principles of the gospel of Jesus Christ. Observance of such is a specific condition of employment, admission, continued enrollment, and graduation. Those individuals who are not members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints are also expected to maintain the same standards of conduct, except they are encouraged to attend the church of their choice. All who represent BYU are to maintain the highest standards of honor, integrity, morality, and consideration of others in personal behavior. By accepting appointment on the faculty, continuing in employment, or continuing class enrollment, individuals evidence their commitment to observe the Honor Code standards approved by the Board of Trustees.

Plagiarism

Intentional plagiarism is a form of intellectual theft that violates widely recognized principles of academic integrity as well as the Honor Code. Such plagiarism may subject the student to appropriate disciplinary action administered through the university Honor Code Office, in addition to academic sanctions that may be applied by an instructor. Although not in violation of the Honor Code, students are also cautioned against inadvertent plagiarism. Plagiarism of any kind is completely contrary to the established practices of higher education, where all members of the university are expected to acknowledge the original intellectual work of others that is included in one's own work. In some cases, plagiarism may also involve violations of copyright law.

Preventing Sexual Harassment

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 prohibits sex discrimination against any participant in an educational program or activity that receives federal funds. The act is intended to eliminate sex discrimination in education. Title IX covers discrimination in programs, admissions, activities, and student-to-student sexual harassment. BYU's policy against sexual harassment extends not only to employees of the University, but to students as well. If you encounter unlawful sexual harassment or gender-based discrimination, please talk to your professor; contact the Equal Employment Office, 801-422-5895 or 801-367-5689 (24 hours); or the Honor Code Office at 801-422-2847.

Students with Disabilities

Brigham Young University is committed to providing a working and learning atmosphere that reasonably accommodates qualified persons with disabilities. If you have any disability that may impair your ability to complete this course successfully, please contact the University Accessibility Center (801-422-2767). Reasonable academic accommodations are reviewed for all students who have qualified documented disabilities. Services are coordinated with the student and instructor by the UAC. If you need assistance or if you feel you have been unlawfully discriminated against on the basis of disability, you may seek resolution through established grievance policy.

Title IX Policy

As required by Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, the university prohibits sex against any participant in its education programs or activities. Title IX also prohibits sexual harassment—including sexual violence—committed by or against students, university employees, and visitors to campus. As outlined in university policy, sexual harassment, dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault, and stalking are considered forms of sexual misconduct prohibited by the university. University policy requires any university employee in a teaching, managerial, or supervisory role to report incidents of sexual misconduct that come to their attention through various forms including face-to-face conversation, a written class assignment or paper, class discussion, email, text, or social media post. If you encounter sexual misconduct, please contact the Title IX Coordinator at t9coordinator@byu.edu or 801-422-2130 or Ethics Point at titleix.byu.edu/report or 1-888-238-1062 (24-hours). Additional information about Title IX and resources available to you can be found at titleix.byu.edu.

Non-Discrimination Statement

The Marriage and Family Therapy Graduate Program provides equal opportunity in couple, marriage, and family therapy education for all persons, including faculty and employees with respect to hiring, continuation, promotion and continuing faculty status (i.e. tenure), applicants for admission, enrolled students, and graduates, without discrimination or segregation on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, age, or disability. However, all students, faculty, and employees are required to abide by the Honor Code, a behavioral code of the university. If or when these policies conflict, the BYU Honor Code shall take precedence as confirmed in the Commission on Accreditation for Marriage and Family Therapy Education Accreditation Manual Version 12.0, “Programs with a religious affiliation or purpose may have policies that are directly related to their religious affiliation or purpose and that conflict with the aforementioned anti-discrimination policy requirements, provided they are published and accessible policies, and available publicly to applicants, students, faculty members, supervisors, and any other relevant educators and/or staff prior to any affiliation with or enrollment in the program.” (p. 14).

Further, the program’s non-discrimination statement is consistent with the BYU Comprehensive Clinic’s non-discrimination statement. Located in the Clinic’s brochure, it reads as follows: “Services are provided to otherwise qualified individuals within our screening criteria without regard to religious beliefs, gender, sexual orientation, age, race, culture, ethnicity, national origin, socioeconomic status, or physical and mental abilities.”

Policy for Determining Sufficient Number of Faculty

Determining whether the Ph.D. and MS programs have enough faculty to meet their Educational Outcomes is based on several factors including supervisor-to-student ratios, faculty-to-dissertation/thesis ratios, covering courses in a timely manner, need for specific content expertise, and gender balance.

The program generally has approximately 45 matriculated MS and Ph.D. students at a given time. The program has adopted a supervisor-to-student supervision ratio of 1-to-6 for both the MS and

Ph.D. programs. This ensures that students receive one-on-one and group supervision in amounts that exceed the 100 hours the program requires. When supervisors beyond the full-time faculty are needed, the Program Director negotiates with the Director of the School of Family Life for funding for adjunct supervisors. An additional reason for hiring adjunct supervisors is to increase gender balance among supervisors.

Another relevant factor is having sufficient faculty to teach courses in a timely manner and in the published sequence and in the university class schedule. When there is a need to cover an MFT course, the Program Director requests funding from the Director of the School of Family Life to hire an adjunct faculty member to teach the course. If this happens regularly with multiple didactic courses, the Program Director negotiates with the Director of the School of Family Life to secure a line for a new hire. If the Director of the School of Family Life agrees that the program needs additional faculty, then the Director would take the request to the Dean of the College of Family, Home, and Social Sciences.

The faculty review how well the program is doing in achieving the three sets of educational outcomes each year. If the percentages of students achieving each outcome are below the benchmark, the faculty would consider all possible reasons for the poor performance including the faculty factors mentioned above. When review of educational outcomes shows that the program is meeting its benchmarks, the faculty would not consider whether additional faculty is needed.

These factors are taken into consideration every semester as course assignments are made, at admissions, and as each faculty member agrees to chair or become a member of a dissertation/thesis committee.

Policies Regarding Travel and Conference Attendance

Conference Attendance Overview

Conference experiences are facilitated and partially funded by the university in order to provide a significant impact on your educational experience and aid your introduction to the broader field and community of colleagues in M/CFT. Some funds are made available for student travel (policies specific to receiving funds can be found in the next section). In order to receive a reimbursement of travel expenses, you must submit a short write up of your experience to the Program Director Jason Whiting (jason.whiting@byu.edu) and your major professor within two weeks from the last day of the conference. Additionally, this write up is to show accountability for the support you received to attend the conference by demonstrating substantial involvement in conference activities. The write up should include a summary of other activities like classes you attended and networking you accomplished.

Note: There are specific and important deadlines associated with conference travel. It is wise to begin planning for a conference well in advance. Carefully note and observe all deadlines in order to receive permissions/funds

Conference Attendance for Master's Students

Attendance at professional conferences can have a significant, positive impact on a student's educational experience. For students dedicated to MFT research, or focused on furthering their education by presenting a research project, participation in a conference can be a valuable experience. This is a particularly good way to set yourself apart as a good candidate for a Ph.D. program. Presenting a poster or paper will involve significant preparation and should be started many months before the conference. Students should be prepared to take the initiative if they would like to present and not rely on their advisor to do the work for them. Students prepared to take this step should speak with their advisor to discover the steps necessary to be adequately prepared.

All students are encouraged to attend one advisor approved conference in their second year of the program regardless if they are presenting or not. A student should attend with the expectation that they will actively participate in conference activities, including attending sessions and networking with others in the field. Students willing to make conference attendance an educationally significant experience may be eligible for up to $1000 of program funds to cover conference registration fees and travel expenses. A proposal must be sent to the program director at least three months prior to the conference. (Please see the section on Travel Support for Students Attending Conferences in this handbook for more detailed information on obtaining funds.)

Conference Attendance for Ph.D. Students

As outlined in the portfolio requirements, Ph.D. students are required to present research at two national professional conferences (like AAMFT, NCFR, SPR) during your time in the doctoral program. You should meet with your advisor to select the best conferences to attend given your specific areas of interest. You are eligible for funding to attend a conference at which you will be presenting 1st or 2nd authored posters or papers. You can submit a proposal to your advisor to receive up to $1000 towards conference registration fees and travel expenses for two conferences during your time in the program. Proposals must be received at least three months prior to the conference in order to be considered. (Please see the section on Travel Support for Students Attending Conferences in this handbook for more detailed information on obtaining funds.)

Travel Support for Students Attending Conferences

① Are there funds available for me to attend a conference?

The program uses money gathered by student therapists to support student travel to a professional conference where the student is presenting research with a faculty mentor. This is a tremendous privilege, not a something the student is owed. Students must receive approval from their mentor, in writing, before any travel is approved. Students should not submit abstracts to present research without the approval of her/his mentor. Commonly asked questions about conference attendance are listed here:

- How many trips and which conferences? The MFT program will fund one conference trip for MS students in their second year if they are presenting research. The program will fund two conference trips for Ph.D. students during their time in the program. AAMFT, NCFR are examples of conferences that have been funded historically; other conferences must be pre-approved by the student's advisor and the program director
- Can I roll the funds over and go to two conferences in a year? Students are allowed one funded conference per year. Funds do not rollover if not used during any given year. Likewise, they cannot be saved up and cashed out.
- Who qualifies as a current student? Current students are those enrolled full-time during their two years of MS degree study and full-time Ph.D. students.
- Are funds guaranteed? Funding is contingent on program budgets which vary from year to year.
- Is preapproval required? A faculty member must submit approval to the School of Family life prior to the student making any travel arrangements. Any travel plans made prior to the faculty submitting approval will not be funded. A copy of the Student Travel Authorization form can be obtained at <https://purchasing.byu.edu/forms/student-travel-auth>. It must be submitted to the Graduate Program Manager (Terri Robertson: terri_robertson@byu.edu) with the appropriate signatures before any travel plans are made.
- Are there additional required forms? Students must also submit the Risk & Release Agreement. This can also be found at <https://purchasing.byu.edu/forms/student-travel-auth> and will be submitted with the travel authorization form.
- What other requirements are necessary to get funds? In order to receive MFT funding, students must have faculty chair and program director approval prior to registration and accommodation arrangements, follow the necessary steps in their proper order for making arrangements, and write a short report at the conclusion of their experience.

Student Travel Authorization

This authorization should be completed by student(s) traveling without being accompanied by a full-time university employee. When accompanied by a full-time university employee, the employee should file the trip authorization in Y-Expense and indicate he or she is traveling with a group. When traveling as a student group without a full-time university employee, one form may be filed for the whole group by the student group leader.

Student must follow BYU travel policies and application procedures which are coordinated through the SFL Graduate Program Manager (Terri Robertson: terri_robertson@byu.edu) additional details at purchasing.byu.edu/forms/student-travel-auth. The MFT Program will not provide travel assistance for students who are presiding or are discussants at conference seminars, workshops, etc. Students may also obtain travel funding from the Hinckley Chair fund (fhss.byu.edu/students/pages/conferencefunds.aspx).

Amounts qualifying students may receive:

- MS Students: $1000 for current 2nd year MS students who are presenting. Limit 1 conference.
- Ph.D. Students: $1000 per year for current student. Limit 2 conferences.

Other Funding Options

GSS Funded Research Presentation Awards: Graduate students presenting original research at conferences or performing or displaying creative work are eligible to receive a Research Presentation Award (RPA) averaging $400. RPAs are intended to enable graduate students to travel to important conferences or events within their discipline in order to present their scholarly and creative work. RPAs are awarded two times each year and are distributed within two months after the application deadline. The application deadline is in the middle of an award period which allows students to apply who have either already presented their research/creative work or who are planning to within the specified time period. Approximately one-third of the applicants receive an award.

The Marjorie Pay Hinckley Endowed Chair in Social Work: These awards provide funds to support student participation in professional academic conferences. These awards can be used to pay for the student's conference registration, travel, meals and lodging. It is understood that the Department will share a portion of the costs. Please visit fhss.byu.edu/students/pages/conferencefunds.aspx for more details and information.

Requests will be evaluated on the following criteria:

- Level of student involvement in the research effort.
- Quality of the conference. Participation at national conference is given greater weight than at a regional conference.
- Department commitment to participate in some of the student costs.
- Marjorie Pay Hinckley Chair funds are available for both undergraduate and graduate students and are available for international travel and travel within the United States.
- Grants are available for professional academic conferences only. Participation in undergraduate, non-professional meetings will not be funded. For more info visit hinckleychair.byu.edu or fultonchair.byu.edu.

Procedure for Getting Funds

The Graduate Program Manager (Terri Robertson: terri_robertson@byu.edu) will process all graduate student travel reimbursements and payments. Please adhere to the following procedures and expectations:

- You must have a Student Travel Authorization (STA) form submitted and approved prior to making any reservations or purchases related to your travel, including conference registration. The form can be found online at purchasing.byu.edu/forms/student-travel-auth or email the Graduate Program Manager; submit the form to your Graduate Coordinator. Once your travel is approved by your Graduate Coordinator, you must submit the authorization form with signature to the Graduate Program Manager. You will also submit the Risk and Release Agreement. If you are receiving any additional funding (e.g. Hinckley funds, money from a faculty 20-account, etc.), you must also email the Graduate Program Manager the details.
- It is best if you use BYU Travel to make flight arrangements. It is easiest if the Graduate Program Manager emails BYU Travel with account and funding details. After the Student Travel Authorization form (STA) is approved let the Program Manager know when you are ready to book and if you will use BYU Travel. In that case, the BYU travel agent will contact you directly about travel options. You must book your flight with BYU Travel at least two months in advance to travel, failure to do so forfeits funding. You are welcome to make your own flight arrangements. You will be reimbursed for all costs after you complete your travel (see step 6). Valid receipts are necessary.
- Hotel accommodations can also be booked using BYU travel. You will need to pay with your own card and submit the receipt as part of Step 6. Unless otherwise noted from outside funding (see step 5). If you make your own reservations, this may be reimbursed as part of your allotted funding, after you complete your travel (see step 6). Valid receipt is necessary. You should clearly communicate in the STA (see step 1) as well as at the pre-travel meeting (see step 5) if you will be sharing a room with other students.
- You should pay for conference registration using your personal credit card. It will be reimbursed as part of step 6, after the completion of your travel and conference attendance.
- Before traveling, you must meet with the Graduate Program Manager (15 minutes) to ensure you both understand:
 - How much you are allotted from which sources
 - What has been or will be paid for from what source
 - The amount you have remaining that can be used for ground transport, food, etc
 - The possibility of claiming per diem instead of tracking food expenses.
 - Note: If you are sharing a hotel with other students, you may all want to meet with the Graduate Program Manager at the same time.
- After traveling, you must write about your experience. Conference experiences are facilitated and partially funded by the university in order to provide a significant impact on your education experience and aid your introduction to the broader field and community of colleagues in M/CFT. In order to receive a reimbursement of travel expenses, you must submit a short write up of your experience to the program director and your major professor within two weeks from the last day of the conference. The purpose of this write up is for you to reflect on and synthesize your experience. Additionally, it is to show accountability for the support you received to attend the conference by demonstrating substantial involvement in conference activities. This involvement should go beyond only passive activities like standing by a poster. This write up should include a summary of other activities like classes you attended and networking accomplished. The program director will contact the Graduate Program Manager with approval after reviewing your write up.
- You must meet with the Graduate Program Manager (15-20 minutes) to submit your reimbursement. You will need to bring all receipts for which you should be reimbursed, including airfare, hotel, and conference registration if applicable. The Graduate Program Manager will submit your reimbursement with you present and give you an expense report number (e.g. EX00421222) which should allow you to check on the status of the reimbursement.

- You will receive your reimbursement as a check delivered through the mail. Check to ensure your mailing address is up-to-date.

Adjunct Benefits and Travel

Our clinical supervisors and adjuncts are valuable members of the BYU MFT program, as such we aim to support their sustained learning. Adjuncts and Supervisors teaching at least 3 credit hours a year can be reimbursed yearly for their AAMFT full clinical membership and approved supervisor fees. Please send your AAMFT membership information to mfptsec@byu.edu to have them pay for your membership.

Additionally, the program will pay for domestic flight, early bird registration, and up to $500 toward AAMFT annual conference, if the adjunct is presenting with students at the conference.

Please see <https://purchasing.byu.edu/travel> for procedure how to complete and submit the travel forms through Y-Expense system. Flight must be booked at least 2 months prior to the conference and registration must fall under the early bird deadline to be covered.

Policies Regarding Professional Experiences

Student Initiated Off-Campus Clinical Experiences

The COAMFTE/AAMFT Accreditation standards allow students the opportunity to gain a portion of their clinical experience off campus under appropriate supervision as part of their clinical training. The purpose of these policies and procedures is to outline the guidelines students must follow before pursuing off-campus (i.e. outside of the comprehensive clinic) clinical experience.

Application Process: Students should describe their proposed off-campus experience in a letter to the clinical faculty at the earliest possible date before beginning their experience. This letter should address:

- Training site description and clientele served.
- Nature of clinical experiences including projected number of hours conducting individual, group and relationship therapy per week and for the total experience.
- Description of supervision. The supervision must follow the AAMFT and BYU program guidelines and the supervision must be approved by the clinical faculty. The supervisor must be an AAMFT approved supervisor or supervisor-in-training or have essentially the same credentials.

- Expected salary or reimbursement, if any.
- Starting and ending date.

MFT Externship Proposal Form: This form must also be filled out and submitted with the letter. A sample form is included in Appendix F. The clinical faculty will approve, disapprove or return the proposal for revisions. A completed and signed MFT Off-Campus Practicum Contract must be submitted after faculty approval of the site and before beginning the program.

- Off-campus practicum may begin during the Fall Semester of a student's second year.
- Maximum number of clinical hours a student may earn off-campus is 250.
- The ratio of supervision hours to clinical hours must be in accordance with AAMFT guidelines for students in training: 1 hour of supervision per 5 clinical hours.
- Live or video-audio tape formats should be used at least 50% of the time in supervision. Video tapes/DVDs will be transferred by locked file box as applicable.

- During the off-campus experience, the student must be concurrently enrolled in MFT 655R or MFT 755R in which they are receiving individual supervision and are registered for the appropriate number of credits and carrying the expected case load at the comprehensive clinic.

Regarding Work Outside of the Clinic Prior to Graduation

This is to clarify the policy of the Utah Division of Occupational & Professional Licensing (DOPL) concerning master's-level students who are all-but-thesis (ABT) and who wish to practice MFT off-campus under the supervision of an approved supervisor, after the completion of their 500 hours of clinical experience for the master degree. Such individuals are in violation of state law.

There are only three types of people who can legally practice MFT in Utah:

- Licensed MFTs
- Full-time or part-time students under supervision of a faculty member in an MFT program
- Approved Associate MFTs

It is against the policy of the MFT program for a student to practice MFT outside of an approved practicum placement. Therefore, practicums will not be approved for ABT (all-but-thesis) students after the initial two years in the MS program. These policies exist to protect the public, the student, and our program. They point to the importance of completion of the master's thesis as soon as possible. All doctoral students who have completed the required COAMFTE master's curriculum are required to become Associate Licensed Marriage and Family Therapists in the State of Utah as soon as they have officially completed the curriculum.

Professional Liability Insurance

Current MFT students are covered by professional liability insurance for their clinical practice while enrolled as full-time students completing the MS or Ph.D. degree. Students must concurrently enroll in the appropriate clinical practicum, MFT 655R, MFT 755R, or doctoral internship MFT 770R whenever they are seeing clients, in order to be covered by liability insurance and to have supervision hours count toward program clinical hour requirements. Student membership in AAMFT also provides some additional individual malpractice insurance protection. All students are required to be student or clinical members of AAMFT. Information will be provided in practicums.

Policies Regarding MFT Spaces

Use of MFT Interns' Office

Purpose. In order to maintain a professional program, insure that the needs of our clients are safeguarded and carry on the business of the Marriage and Family Therapy Program in an orderly manner, the following policy has been established by the students and faculty.

Policy. The Marriage and Family Therapy Interns' Office, Room 233, is designed for use of the Marriage and Family Interns to carry out their professional work, including reviewing case information, discussing confidential matters, waiting for clients to arrive for appointments, etc.

The Interns' Office should not be used for placing personal phone calls since the phone must be available for the receptionist or others to call the office.

MFT Office Procedures (234 TLRB)

Message Boxes:

- Student Boxes: These message boxes are provided for students in the MFT office. These need to be checked and emptied daily since messages are placed in the boxes whenever a client calls or when colleagues need to contact each other.

Please remember that these boxes are for messages and are not to be used as storage for text books, etc.

- Faculty Boxes: The MFT office has a message box for each professor. If you need to leave something for a professor, put it directly in their box instead of handing it to the secretary.

Notices: Information is taped periodically near the message boxes and near the doorway. Please take time to read these important announcements.

Telephone Calls: The telephone in the MFT office is for office use only. You will be assigned a long distance code to contact clients who do not live locally. The College monitors all long-distance calls so make sure that your use of the long-distance code is for clients only.

Change of Address: Whenever there is an address or phone change, the MFT secretary should be informed. This keeps our directory current and the therapists accessible.

Graduate Catalog: The current Graduate Catalog and class schedule is now online at gradstudies.byu.edu at the bottom of the page.

Office Computers: The computers in the MFT office are for secretarial use only.

Client Letters: Client letters are to be created by interns in the TLRB computer room. When you are ready to print out the letter, bring a digital copy to the MFT office or email it to mftptsec@byu.edu and the part-time secretaries will print it on official clinic letterhead, as well as provide a plain envelope (for confidentiality) and stamp for you. Remember to put a copy of the letter in the client file.

Bulletin Board: Check the bulletin board located in the hall outside the MFT office and by the southwest stairwell for conference notices, recent publications and other current information.

Shredding: A shredder is available in the MFT office. (Students must destroy unnecessary documents that have client names appearing on them.)

Kleenex: Kleenex is available in each therapy room and can be obtained from the clinic receptionist when supplies in the room are low.

Jobs and Internships: Jobs and internship opportunities are emailed out to all students, listed on the mft.byu.edu website, and posted in the MFT secretary's office (TLRB 234).

Supplies: If you need supplies from the MFT office, ask the secretary. The supplies in the supply closet are for the use of the secretaries and professors.

Filing Cabinets: Ask the secretary for any forms you may need.

Policies Regarding Thesis Proposal and Defense Meetings

Thesis Proposal and Defense Meetings

Master's students are required to schedule their thesis proposal (also called a prospectus) or project proposal by the end of Fall Semester in their final year in order to continue Departmental Financial Assistance. The defense/presentation meeting must be scheduled by mid-June in order to graduate on time and continue as a student in good standing. Doctoral students can defend their prospectus at any time during their program. However, they cannot defend their dissertation until their course work, prospectus review and comprehensive portfolio are completed.

Thesis/dissertation policies, procedures and forms:

Thesis/Dissertation Forms: The Advisement (ADV) Form you will need to schedule your thesis/dissertation (ADV form 8c) are available from the BYU Graduate Studies Website: gradstudies.byu.edu under current students.

Thesis/Dissertation Deadlines for Graduation: ADV Form 8 lists the thesis/dissertation deadlines for graduation. Review these deadlines early and plan your prospectus meeting and dissertation defense dates accordingly. Remember to leave yourself time in advance of BYU deadlines for unexpected problems.

Thesis/Dissertation Formatting: ADV Form 11 provides university-wide formatting requirements. ADV Form 11b provides a front matter template for theses and ADV Form 11d provides a front matter template for dissertations. A packet is sent to students from the grad studies office prior to their defense. With the exception of the university-wide formatting requirements and the formatting for the front matter pages, you should follow APA publication manual guidelines. Because you will have to convert your thesis/dissertation into a PDF for submission to ETD (Electronic Theses & Dissertations), it is to your advantage to begin formatting your thesis/dissertation early. BYU frequently offers short trainings on formatting your thesis/dissertation for ETD submission. Instructions and a series of short training videos can be found online at net.lib.byu.edu/courses/tutorials/pdf.php. The Graduate School will give you a packet of information to help guide you through the process of your ETD submission.

Proposal/Prospectus Meeting Scheduling: Allow approximately three to four weeks for the scheduling of your prospectus meeting (a week to schedule the prospectus meeting, and up to two weeks for the actual defense meeting to be held. These meetings are scheduled by the SFL Graduate Program Manager (Terri Robertson: 801-422-2060 or terri_robertson@byu.edu).

Defense Scheduling: Allow approximately three to four weeks (about a week to schedule the defense and complete ADV Form 8c, and then ADV Form 8c must be submitted to Graduate Program Manager and she will schedule the defense in AIM [ADV08] at least two weeks prior to the actual defense date). Graduate Studies sends a packet about one week before the final oral exam/defense has been scheduled to convene. The packet contains the ETD formatting info and other documents that will need to be signed. SFL graduate program manager, will also send emails with instructions. Any questions can be directed to SFL Graduate Program Manager, as well.

Defense Format: Check with your chair regarding the specifics of the defense. It is typical to wait outside while the committee talks without you present (i.e., once at the beginning and once toward the end). Before your defense, discuss with your chair the possibility of getting the signatures of all committee members at the conclusion of the meeting if you pass so that you do not have to track them all down again. However, if you do not obtain all of the signatures at the end of the defense meeting there will also be an electronic way to obtain all of the signatures needed, as explained in the email from Graduate Program Manager.

Thesis/Dissertation Submission: ADV Form 12a for theses and ADV Form 12b for dissertations provide a checklist of things that must be completed in order for proper submission. Because the department requires ETD submission, follow the instructions for the Electronic Submissions and not for the Paper Submissions

Electronic Thesis & Dissertations (ETD) Submission: You should have your paper document go through all approvals (committee, department, and college) for content, then create the ETD once your content has been approved. An ETD checklist is available at etd.byu.edu/start.html and specific requirements for formatting the actual PDF for the ETD are available at etd.lib.byu.edu.

Upload Your ETD: When you upload your ETD, be prepared to enter the title of your thesis/dissertation, the degree with which you will graduate (e.g., MS, Ph.D.), the type of document (i.e., thesis, dissertation), the department, the college, your defense date, several key words to assist in identifying your thesis/dissertation in searches, and cut and paste in your abstract. Once you have uploaded your ETD, the Graduate Program Manager will have to approve your ETD, after which the college associate dean will have to approve your ETD. Once the ETD is approved, you will then collect the final signatures on the ADV Form 8d and take the form to the Graduate Studies Office (105 FPH). Once the ETD has been approved by Graduate Studies, they will accept the ADV Form 8d and the ETD PDF will be electronically submitted to the Library.

Questions/Additional Information: Contact the SFL Graduate Program Manager for questions. Additional info can be found on BYU Graduate Studies' website (gradstudies.byu.edu) under current students.

Since the thesis proposal and defense meetings are considered professional meetings, students should not bring food or snacks to these meetings. In addition, students are not encouraged to invite spouses or family members to these meetings as their presence may distract or put additional stress on the student or his/her committee members.

Graduate Studies Policy Requiring Attendance at Defense Meetings

The student and all committee members must be present for the defense. Departments may request accommodations for committee members (not committee chairs or students) under the following circumstances:

- A member of the graduate student's committee is employed at another university, and the student has worked in that professor's lab/studio during the graduate program. An accommodation may be requested for the committee member to participate in the defense via video conferencing.
- A committee member has left the university during the student's program but has continued to work actively with the committee and the student. An accommodation may be requested for the committee member to participate in the defense via video conferencing.

Accommodations require the approval of the student's department, the college dean, and the graduate dean.

Appendix A: Admissions Guidelines

MFT Programs Mission Statement

In harmony with our sponsoring organization (ie The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints) and the mission/aims of Brigham Young University, the Marriage and Family Therapy (MFT) programs focus on "balanced development" in all student growth areas. This development is carried out in an environment of compassion, inclusion, and diversity in order to prepare students to be a healing influence in a world struggling to create safe and meaningful relationships. Both programs utilize a relational perspective (regarding the practice and science of healing) to improve the well-being of individuals, couples, and families. Finally, we strive to be an international leader in process research in order to understand how change occurs and to extend our healing influence beyond campus borders.

In fulfilling our mission statement, the MFT program is designed to fulfill the mission and aims of BYU, as an educational organization (aims.byu.edu), including the creation of an "Enriched Learning Environment" (multicultural.byu.edu/node/whatwedo). Therefore, our admission decisions will be based largely upon applicants' capacities to contribute to the program and their ability to grow in the following areas.

- To intellectually enlarge—Applicant capacity to contribute in terms of intellectual enlargement will be assessed largely through GRE scores, GPA, letters of recommendation, and the personal statement description of their educational path.
- To spiritually strengthen—Applicant potential to contribute to the programs' spiritually-strengthening atmosphere will be assessed through the personal statement, video responses, any person/professional experience (work/volunteer service presented on the resume), and their ecclesiastical endorsement.
- To build character—Applicant potential to contribute to a character-building environment will be measured largely through the personal statement (in terms of a description of jobs they have had, how they financed their education, personal struggles they are dealing with), letters of recommendations, and the video responses.
- A capacity for lifelong service and learning—This will be measured through the personal statement (description of their achievements in this area to date), letters of recommendation, and any personal/professional experience and service described in the resume.
- To enrich the learning environment—This will be measured largely through the video responses, personal statement, and personal experiences related to gender, ethnic, racial, and other forms of diversity. (Please discuss your personal experiences with diversity beyond what was experienced on your mission for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.)

Appendix B: MFT Student Standards

In order to qualify to participate in the program and pursue a degree in Marriage and Family Therapy, students must have the requisite abilities necessary to perform the essential functions required by the program and be able to meet the appropriate programmatic standards. By applying to and accepting admission into the Marriage and Family Therapy Program, students pledge that they have the following abilities and attributes and will conduct themselves according to the following guidelines:

Motor Abilities: Students need to have the ability to fully participate in classes and to acquire and integrate data through the use of their senses. Reasonable accommodation for a qualifying disability may be allowed, but it is the student's responsibility to obtain and relay the necessary information from the University Accessibility Center to each instructor.

Communication Skills: Students must have the ability to process information expeditiously and communicate effectively with other students, faculty members, staff, clients and other professionals. Students must also have sufficient skills in written and spoken English to carry out the required processing and communication.

Faculty and staff within the School of Family Life often communicate via email. It is expected that emails requiring a response be responded to within 24 business hours. Failure to respond appropriately may result in a marginal student evaluation. Laptops are highly recommended as they will be used throughout the program for research, projects etc.

Ethical Standards: Students are ethically and professionally bound to adhere to the AAAMFT Code of Ethics and conduct themselves pursuant to pertinent Utah statutes and applicable administrative codes. In addition, it is essential that students demonstrate empathy and appreciation for diversity in society, and a non-judgmental attitude in their interaction with others. The value of confidentiality is foundational to the profession of Marriage and Family Therapy, and sound interpersonal skills must be present and observable. Whatever one sees and hears must remain within the strictest confidence in order to protect the privacy, rights, sensitivities and feelings of all those involved, including clients and fellow students.

Professionalism: Students are expected to demonstrate a commitment to professional conduct, including adhering to the limit of their knowledge and skills in the delivery of services to clients, respecting others, being punctual and dependable, completing assignments and reports on time, and prioritizing responsibilities. Appearance and personal demeanor should reflect an appropriate understanding of the professional context. Conflict resolution should reflect respect for proper channels of authority, and feedback must be dealt with in a professional manner. It is expected that when there is a conflict, disagreement or offense, the parties involved will communicate directly with each other. Respect should be shown to fellow students, faculty, staff, and clients in the classroom and in the clinic. BYU can and will monitor content posted on social media sites such as Facebook, Twitter, Instagram etc. Please show respect for your colleagues, faculty, the university, and the program when interacting via these platforms. Disrespect for others or any form of sexual harassment will not be tolerated.

Dress Code (in therapy sessions):

For women: A reasonable length skirt or pants of a non-jean material combined with a professional top (such as a dress shirt, blouse, polo, etc) is considered acceptable. An informal dress with appropriate skirt length is also acceptable.

For men: A combination of collared shirt (such as a dress or polo shirt) and professional pants of a non-jean material (such as khakis or blue, green, brown, or black trousers). Shoes should be business-casual in style. A blazer or business jacket can optionally be added.

For either gender: Unacceptable clothing includes: rumpled or ripped clothing, T-shirts, miniskirts, jeans, flip-flops, underwear as outerwear, inappropriately revealing attire such as bare midriffs or very tight fitting clothing.

Students are expected to abide by BYU's Dress and Grooming Standards at all times.

Self-care: Students need to recognize the signs of stress and emotional problems, develop appropriate means of self-care, and seek supportive services when necessary to minimize any adverse impact on scholastic and professional performance. Student must be willing to seek the advice of their faculty advisor and follow recommendations made by their advisor and/or faculty decisions regarding the appropriate maintenance of their academic, physical, or psychological health, which may include assessment and/or therapeutic services at the student's expense. Historically, most students in our graduate programs attend therapy at their own expense throughout the duration of the program. We recommend starting therapy prior to coming to our program if at all possible.

I understand that I am expected to read the MFT Graduate Handbook and realize that I will be held accountable for the content. I also recognize that a repeated failure to comply with these standards may result in my removal from the program.

By signing this document, I certify that I have read, understand and agree to live by the above statements.

Please note that you will need an access code from DOPL to register for this exam.

Professional Organizations

① What professional organizations should I join?

Graduate students in the Marriage and Family Therapy Program are considered to be budding professionals. They are in an apprenticeship to become a contributing professional as an educator, practitioner, scholar, church and community member. To help in this process, students are encouraged to participate actively in appropriate national and regional professional organizations. Because of the multidisciplinary nature of the program, there are numerous professional organizations in which to participate. All these organizations hold regular (usually annual) conferences, and encourage students to present papers, workshops, etc. Talk to your faculty advisor about which organization(s) would be most appropriate for you. Below are brief descriptions of many, but not all, of the organizations in which graduate students may want to participate.

American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy (AAMFT): This national organization is an umbrella group for marriage and family therapists. MFT students are required to join as student members. Others may join as affiliate members.

Utah Association of Marriage and Family Therapists (UAMFT): This organization is the regional affiliate of AAMFT.

American Education Research Association (AERA): This national organization includes special interest groups organized for those engaged in research in Early Childhood Education, Human Development, and Counseling Psychology.

American Family Therapy Association

(AFTA): This national organization serves family therapists.

Association of Mormon Counselors and Psychotherapists (AMCAP): This organization serves the needs of LDS mental health practitioners in psychology, marriage and family therapy, social work, counseling, psychiatry, etc. AMCAP is an independent, professional organization not sponsored by the LDS church.

Gerontological Society of America (GSA): This national organization is a broad, multidisciplinary group of scholars, researchers, practitioners, educators, students, policy makers, and other professionals united by their interest in aging adults.

International Association of Marriage and Family Counseling (IAMFC): IAMFC is a division of the American Counseling Association.

International Family Therapy Association (IFTA): This international organization is committed to expanding family therapy and research worldwide.

National Council on Family Relations

(NCFR): This national organization is a broad, multidisciplinary group of scholars, researchers, practitioners, educators, students, clergy, policy makers, and other professionals united by their interest in families. Membership can include subscription opportunities for two premier family journals: Journal of Marriage and the Family and Family Relations.

Society for Research in Child Development (SRCD): This national organization is a broad, multidisciplinary group of scholars, researchers, practitioners, educators, students, policy makers, and other professionals united by their interest in children's well-being.

Society for Research on Adolescence (SRA): This national organization is a broad, multidisciplinary group of scholars, researchers, practitioners, educators, students, policy makers, and other professionals united by their interest in adolescence.

Utah Council on Family Relations (UCFR): This organization is the regional affiliate of NCFR.

A Career as a University Professor

Being a university professor is an exciting and challenging career. There are many appealing aspects to the profession. Foremost is the opportunity to work with bright and promising students in academic settings that value both teaching and scholarship productivity. Exploring new ideas and moving the frontiers of knowledge forward with students and other professionals in a chosen field is an engaging and stimulating enterprise.

Professors are granted a large degree of autonomy in deciding how to best utilize their time in productive ways. They generally have input as to what courses they teach, how and when they will be taught (within certain parameters), decide what areas to do scholarship in, and find ways to be of service to humanity at large. It generally requires much more than the 40 hour work-week one is compensated for to keep up with the profession.

Successful professors find it difficult to separate teaching from scholarship. Most find that their program of scholarship provides a stimulus for teaching. Likewise, teaching and working with students and other faculty in and out of the classroom contributes to new and productive avenues for scholarship. It is important that students considering the profession find an area of scholarship about which they can be passionate.

Once an area of professional interest is selected and after one has carefully weighed market conditions (some specialties are more marketable than others), it is important for students to work with a mentor or mentors who are providing leadership in that specific area of scholarship. This mentored apprenticeship provides opportunities to learn the tools and protocols of the trade.

Most major institutions of higher learning evaluate professorial faculty in three areas: teaching, scholarship, and citizenship. University tenure and promotion committees look for evidence of quality teaching within the university setting (e.g., teaching evaluations), recognized leadership in one's area of scholarship (e.g., peer reviewed publications, creative work, grant writing), and service within and without the university community (e.g. editorial boards, departmental and college committees, community outreach, getting along with and supporting one's colleagues). In all, being a professor is a demanding, but rewarding career.

Clinical Services Forms

Brigham Young University Comprehensive Clinic Clinical Services Agreement

Who We Are: Clinical services at the BYU Comprehensive Clinic are provided by graduate students in Marriage and Family Therapy, Clinical Psychology, and Social Work. These student-therapists are under the direct supervision of members of the University faculty. We provide individual, couple, family, and group therapy, along with psychological assessments. If you become aware that you have a community relationship with someone in the Clinic that may impact your services, please discuss this with your therapist or assessor. The supervisor for your case will be _____ of the _____ program and can be reached through the receptionist at 801-422-7759.

BYU Comprehensive Clinic Services are not connected with others in the building who also provide professional services such as LDS Family Services, the Communication Disorders Department, or BYU personnel who may provide clinical services privately.

Training through Observation and Taping: For supervision and training, we require permission to use direct observation of client sessions while in progress and to video record sessions. The Clinic endeavors to protect confidentiality with reasonable efforts that employ various security measures to protect clinical records from unauthorized access. The recordings are used in small group settings with students for practicum supervision with your therapist. Graduate clinical students who have not yet begun to see clients may also directly observe your sessions or the video recordings. Your indication below grants permission to directly observe your sessions while in progress, to video record your sessions and to use the recordings as described above.

How Does Therapy Work? Your participation in therapy is entirely voluntary, and regular attendance is vital for success. For therapy to be effective you will need to openly share your thoughts and feelings, to report on your behavior honestly, and to develop a working relationship of trust with your therapist. You must take an active part in therapy by collaborating with your therapist on tasks, goals and treatment planning. Your therapist will want to know about your experience in any prior therapy and may request records. S/he may invite you to try new things in therapy (such as role play, or learn a new skill). It is also helpful to try out new behaviors between sessions. Please discuss any questions or concerns about your services openly with your therapist or assessor.

Decision Making

The decisions you make concerning the course of your life (e.g. behavior changes, marital status, medications under the direction of a physician) are your responsibility.

Risks and Benefits: Psychotherapy, although successful in general, can have both benefits and risks. Since therapy often involves discussing difficult aspects of your life, you may experience uncomfortable feelings like sadness, guilt, anger, or frustration. Couples and families may experience awkwardness and emotional discomfort while working to make desired changes. If you are participating in group therapy, there may be risks from the acts of other group members. On the other hand, therapy often leads to better relationships, solutions to specific problems, and significant reductions in feelings of distress. However, there are no guarantees of what you will experience.

Alternatives to Therapy: Many people who wish to make changes in their lives do so through a variety of methods other than participating in therapy. For example, other options could include: consultation with a physician for medications, ecclesiastical counseling, self-help literature, self-help support groups, or utilizing one's social support system such as family members or friends. There is no guarantee that these alternatives will be effective.

Appointments: Typically, therapy sessions are held weekly for 50 minutes, but this arrangement can be changed to meet your needs. Appointments need to start and stop on time out of respect to other clients. You will want to come to appointments a few minutes early to complete routine questionnaires. If you cannot keep a scheduled appointment, please call as soon as possible and leave a message for your therapist (801- 422-7759).

Contacting Your Therapist: As a training facility we do not provide crisis services, and student-therapists are not available for immediate or extensive phone consultation. Please make arrangements with your therapist to utilize existing community crisis services (9-1-1 or 801-691-5433) if you anticipate such a need. You are expected to participate fully in any efforts to keep yourself and others safe. Also, student-therapists frequently leave town during semester breaks, so please plan accordingly. Messages for your therapist may be left with the receptionist at 801-422-7759. Please do not use email, mobile phone text messaging, or messaging on social networking sites to contact the Clinic or your assigned therapist. These are not secure, and messages may not be read in a timely fashion. Also these communications could compromise confidentiality, and such exchanges might need to become a part of the legal clinical record.

Contacting Clients: Your indication below gives permission for the Clinic to communicate with you via phone and postal mail while your case is open and following discharge. Former clients may be contacted for client satisfaction surveys after treatment is finished. By indicating below, you give permission for the Clinic to contact you via email for occasional routine functions such as how to complete assessments on the Internet or for other administrative purposes.

Child Care: Please arrange for child care. Children may not be left unattended in the waiting area.

Terminating Therapy, Requesting a Transfer, and Referrals: You may end therapy whenever you choose, and your therapist will suggest terminating therapy when treatment goals are met, when therapy is no longer beneficial, or when other treatment resources are needed. The average number of sessions for most clients is around 6–14 sessions, but this varies a great deal depending on client needs. If you desire to end therapy or to request a referral to another therapist, please discuss this first with your therapist.

Because this is a training clinic, clients with the following difficulties are usually referred for services in the community: significant suicidal ideation, significant substance abuse, violence, legal action that may require the therapist to appear in court, and conditions that require long-term therapy of more than 6-9 months. If your therapist and/or supervisor don't believe that the Clinic is able to provide the service you need, the therapist will provide you with a referral. If your therapist is graduating s/he will typically evaluate whether it is in your best interest to continue to be seen by another student in the Clinic or to be referred to a licensed clinician in the community.

Limits to Confidentiality: Necessary information is shared with those inside the Clinic to provide professional services (such as for clinical case supervision, consultation, training, and teaching). Clinic administrative personnel also have access to client records for program evaluation and planning, and for case management. Non-identifying information may be shared with other professionals outside of the Clinic if case consultation is required. You may wish to discuss with your therapist how to handle chance encounters in public. Also, please respect the confidentiality of other clients you may see in the waiting areas of the Clinic.

Information about clients may be released to those outside of the Clinic for any of the following reasons: 1) a completed Release of Information is authorized by the client or guardian in writing; 2) the client has completed an informed consent to participate in research that requires designated information from the record; 3) a valid court order mandates the release of records; 4) the client is a danger to self or others; 5) reason to believe that there has been abuse of a child, or of an elderly, vulnerable, or disabled person; 6) certain communicable diseases are required to be disclosed to the local health department; 7) the client privilege for privacy in court has been waived; 8) the client initiates a complaint or legal proceedings against the Clinic; 9) a government agency requests information for health oversight activities; 10) a client files a worker's compensation claim; 11) the Division of Occupational and Professional Licensing mandates the release of records; 12) a coroner or medical examiner requests information required by law; or 13) other disclosures required by law. Only the minimum amount of information necessary to meet the purpose of a request will be disclosed. The Clinic cannot guarantee that entities outside of the Clinic will honor client confidentiality.

You may revoke a Release of Information at any time, but we will not be able to retract any disclosures that have already been made.

Group Therapy: If you are participating in group therapy, you are expected to respect the confidentiality of other group members. However, the Clinic cannot guarantee that group members will maintain confidentiality.

Psychological Assessments: Please clarify with your assessor exactly what you hope to accomplish with an assessment, the specific questions you hope to answer, and if a formal report is written, who will receive it. If a client is participating in therapy and an assessment, such services are often performed by two different therapists since the roles of therapist and assessor are not always compatible. Psychological assessment reports may be released with the signed consent of the client or guardian. Such information may not be released if the assessor and/or supervisor believe it would harm someone. The Clinic usually does not do assessments that are court ordered or that are anticipated to be used in court proceedings. Following the assessment the assessor will schedule a time to review the results with the client and parent(s)/guardian(s) unless there is a reason not to do so that has been discussed in advance.

Couple and Family Therapy: In couple therapy, please discuss with the therapist and your partner/family members what will happen if sensitive information is revealed to the therapist outside the presence of other family members. If individual therapy and couple/family are required, your therapist may refer you to a different therapist for these services in order to maintain clarity of roles. In the case of couple therapy, the signatures of both participants are necessary to release information.

Children, Legal Wards, and Confidentiality: Please work with your therapist to be sure that children also generally understand this document. Parents and/or legal guardians are frequently invited to participate in family therapy with children or wards (people who have legally appointed guardians). If several members of a family are participating, please clarify with your therapist your roles and the goals for therapy.

Often, a child or ward meets individually with a therapist. In such cases, the parents/legal guardians are usually given general information on therapy progression and a summary at the conclusion of therapy. Parents/legal guardians do not have access to a child's or ward's treatment records if the therapist and/or supervisor decide that such access is likely to harm someone. For therapy to be effective, a child/ward may need to know that what is discussed with the therapist will only be shared with the parents/legal guardians if it is necessary for safety or legal reasons. If the therapist determines that additional information needs to be shared with parents/legal guardians, the therapist will discuss it with the child/ward. Parents/legal guardians and children/wards should clarify confidentiality guidelines with the therapist, especially around sensitive information (e.g. drug use, sexual activity). Release of information of a child's/ward's record would be in accordance with relevant statutes.

In divorce a child may worry that what he says in therapy may be used against a parent in court. Parents/guardians agree by indicating below not to involve the Clinic in custody disputes or arrangements, and agree not to subpoena therapists, supervisors, or records in such disputes. It is unethical for a child's therapist to give an opinion about custody arrangements. With joint custody either parent may consent to treatment for the child or terminate treatment.

Client Access to Records: Except in unusual circumstances that involve danger to yourself and/or others you may request in writing to inspect or to obtain a copy of your Clinic records. This does not include information received confidentially from other sources or documents prepared at the request of a lawyer. Because these are professional records, they can be misinterpreted and/or upsetting to untrained readers. Therefore, it is recommended that you initially review your records with your therapist, the clinical supervisor, Program Director, or a Clinic administrator to ensure a correct interpretation, or the Clinic can send a copy of your records to a mental health therapist of your choice so you can discuss the contents. In special cases, with your written permission, we can release a copy of your record to agencies that employ persons qualified to review such records. If your request for a copy of the record is denied, you may instead receive a summary of what the record contains. If you disagree with this decision, you may request a review which will be discussed with you at the time of the request. Utah law requires that Clinic records be maintained for 10 years after termination.

Confidentiality After Death: If a client dies, a legal executor of the estate can exercise rights for the deceased pertaining to the record. Information released will only be that which is relevant to the purpose of the request.

Grievances: You may voice concerns about any aspect of your services to your therapist, your therapist's supervisor, and to the supervisor's Director of Clinical Training. If your case is closed, you may discuss concerns about the disposition of your records to the Clinic Director at 801-422-7759.

Use of an Interpreter: The Clinic cannot guarantee that an interpreter will keep information discussed in therapy or assessment sessions confidential.

Progress Assessment: Clients are routinely given questionnaires during and after therapy to assess their progress and satisfaction with services. There are no known risks or discomforts from participating in this process. Please plan on coming early to sessions to complete these questionnaires while your case is open. Clinic clients who participate in additional research projects are given supplementary consent forms explaining the nature of such studies along with the participant's rights.

Modifications: The Clinic reserves the right to modify this Agreement as needed in the future. If this occurs while you are a client, you will be notified in writing.

Fees: The fee for individual, couple, and family therapy services is $15.00 per session. Usually the fee for group participation is a one-time payment of $15.00 per person which covers the entire group experience. Psychological assessments are performed for $50.00. Neuropsychological assessments and extensive developmental assessments are $400. Please discuss fees with your therapist. Please pay in full the agreed amount to the downstairs receptionist on the day of the service. We do not bill insurance or accept insurance payments. Please check the box below to indicate your agreement regarding Clinic fees.

I agree to pay for services at $15.00 per session.

I agree to pay a one-time fee of $15.00 for group participation.

I agree to pay $50.00 for a psychological assessment.

I agree to pay $400.00 for a neuropsychological evaluation or extensive developmental evaluation.

I agree to sign a modified fee agreement with my therapist.

If you have any questions about anything in this consent form, please discuss them with your therapist.

By checking this box, you indicate that you have read this information, understand and agree.

Every person 18 years of age and older, receiving services at the Clinic must complete this form. For those 17 and younger, or for those who are legally incapable of authorizing services on their own behalf, a guardian must complete it in their behalf. If it is later learned that a person who completed the form does not have the legal right to consent on behalf of the child/ward, treatment may be interrupted.
